JP Morgan adds Indian bonds to its global index

Analysts estimate passive fund inflows to the tune of $25 billion; rupee to gain value

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

IN a significant move that will set the stage for billions of dollars of foreign fund flows to India, global financial firm JP Morgan has decided to include Indian government bonds into its widely tracked emerging market debt index.

"India's weight is expected to reach the maximum weight threshold of 10% in the GBI-EM Global Diversified, and 8.7% in the GBI-EM Global index," JP-Morgan said in a statement. Indian bonds' inclusion will be staggered over a 10-month period from June 24, 2024 to March 31, 2025, indicating 1% increment on its index weight. This will lead to passive inflows of around $25 billion.

Government Bond Index-Emerging Markets (GBI-EM) Global Diversified accounts for $213 billion of the estimated $236-billion benchmarked to the GBI-EM family of indices.

According to the index inclusion criteria, eligible instruments are required to have notional outstanding above $1 billion and at least 2.5 years remaining maturity. Currently, 23 Indian government bonds with a combined notional value of $330 billion are eligible to be part of the index.

"JP Morgan has made this decision on its own. It attests to the confidence that financial market participants and financial markets, in general, have on India's potential and growth prospects and its macroeconomic and fiscal policies," said India's chief economic advisor V Anantha Nageswaran.

Analysts see this as a positive move for the Indian economy as it ensures stable fund inflows, stronger rupee, and lower bond yields. According to SBI Mutual Fund's chief economist Namrata Mittal, the move creates an additional source to fund the current account and fiscal deficit. She, however, cautions that once the initial adjustment is done, there may be a relatively higher volatility in the Indian bond market.

Debopam Chaudhuri, chief economist of Piramal Group sees the move in terms of freeing up of funds for private borrowers. "With additional foreign funds available through funds tracking the Bond Indexes, government borrowing may not crowd out private corporate borrowers as much as in the past," he said.

It's official: JDS joins hands with NDA ahead of 2024 Lok Sabha polls

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@ New Delhi

PUTTING an end to speculation, the Janata Dal (Secular) on Friday said it will ally with the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA) ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

The decision was announced after JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy met BJP national president J P Nadda and Union Home Minister Amit Shah at Nadda's residence.

The JDS joining its camp will give the BJP a boost in Karnataka as it prepares for the general elections, months after losing the state Assembly elections to the Congress.

HD Kumaraswamy with Union Home Minister Amit Shah in New Delhi | PTI

"I am happy that JD(S) has decided to be the part of National Democratic Alliance. We wholeheartedly welcome them in the NDA. This will further strengthen NDA and vision of Hon'ble Prime Minister Narendra Modi Ji for 'New India, Strong India'," Nadda wrote on X.

Welcoming the JDS to the NDA, Shah posted: "Their association will lead Karnataka on the path of development and pave the way for a stronger NDA and a stronger India."

BJP sources said talks with JDS leaders have been going on for the last six months. Party leaders believe an alliance with the JDS will ensure its domination in Karnataka in the Lok Sabha elections as the regional party enjoys a strong political grip in the state's southern parts.

The JDS is the third biggest political party in Karnataka after the Congress and the BJP. P4

This 200m road to set the bar in Karanth Layout

Streetlights, water & drainage infrastructure, optic fibre cables to be installed on stretch

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

ADOPTING a much-improvised appoach to creating layout infrastructure, Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) will lay a 200-metre road at Ramagondanahalli village in Dr Shivarama Karanth Layout. All roads passing through the layout, which will have 34,000 sites carved out of 3,546 acres, will be modelled on it, said top BDA officials.

A senior official told TNIE, "Erection of streetlights, laying of the road, drinking water and sewage infrastructure and even laying of optic fibre cables would be done. The actual connection will not be given now in Phase-I. It will serve as the blueprint for all roads to be built here in future."

Top officials visited the site a day ago to narrow down on the specific portion where the road could be built. "An agency laying the road and another digging it up later will be avoided. We have narrowed down on the spot now, and the model road will be in place in ten days," another official said. The road would stay in place after all other roads in the layout are built too. The Supreme-Court appointed Justice A V Chandrashekar Committee, supervising the layout formation, had last week announced that allotment of sites would be done in the first week of December. Dr Karanth Layout's Phase-1 has a deadline of September 2024, and Phase-2 is likely to be completed by September 2026.

"Construction of ground water level reservoirs, sewage treatment plants and substations figure in Phase-2 only," the official added.

A total of 12,000 sites in this layout are likely to be allotted to the public, with the bulk of sites (over 15,000) to be allotted to the landlosers. Numbering has commenced for 29,000 sites here, while 150 acres of land have been earmarked for economically weaker sections.

Geopolitics will not affect transit of students: Canadian University VC

PURAN CHOUDHARY @ Bengaluru

DESPITE the current geopolitical situation between Canada and India, there will be no problems with the transit of students for educational purposes said Professor Rhonda Lenton, President, Vice Chancellor, York University, Canada in her visit to Bengaluru, on Friday.

"Canadian university representatives are in India, and on the ground along with their partners, to make it very clear that India is very important to us. It is a strategic partner and we want to deepen the relationship that we have with the country," she added.

Lenton was speaking on the sidelines of signing a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) for academic collaboration with OP Jindal Global University and supporting student mobility between the two countries.

Prof Dr Rhonda Lenton, from York University, Canada, and Prof. Dr. C Raj Kumar, of OP Jindal Global University

On speaking about the current geopolitics between the two nations she said, "I do not think that politics is the major premise for building any international relationship. From an inductive point of view, universities working in collaboration will still have the same courtesy towards each other."

The MoU will focus on student and faculty exchange programs, short-term study abroad programs, dual-degree programs, and collaborative research projects. A recent data from the Canadian Bureau for International Education stated that currently, there are over 8 lakh international students in Canada with 34 per cent of them from India, contributing over 30 billion dollars to Canada.

C Raj Kumar, Founding Vice Chancellor, OP Jindal Global University spoke to TNIE and said, "There are implications at the geopolitical level. But as universities, we are conscious of the role and responsibilities we play. Education has helped to cement better ties with countries even in the most difficult situations," and added that he hopes that the situation gets better, however the university's primary focus remains education.

This partnership looks at investing in several critical initiatives, to strengthen the ties and create mutually beneficial opportunities for students.

Green award for IIIT-B for eco-friendly campus

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE International Institute of Information Technology Bangalore (IIIT-Bangalore) was conferred with the esteemed Green University Award 2023 during the Seventh NYC Green School Conference held in New York on September 15. The award was received by governing body member and IIT-B alumnus Udaya Hegde on behalf of the institute.

The institution's commitment to reducing pollution and promoting eco-conscious practices has set a benchmark for educational institutions worldwide. "IIIT-Bangalore's sustainability initiatives extend beyond the campus, as we encourage the student community in green initiatives such as tree planting campaigns, marathons to promote environmental conservation and to donate their used apparel and footwear to those in need," said IIIT-Bangalore Director Prof Debabrata Das.

The institute comprises over 1,500 students, faculty, staff, and others and has an expansive 41 per cent green space. It harnesses solar power to meet 40 per cent of its energy needs, with a 500KVA solar plant, which produces approximately 0.7 million KWH of solar power annually. The campus recycles 55,000 kilolitres of wastewater annually, meeting 50 per cent of its water requirements, while collecting rainwater to fulfil additional 10 per cent.

The institute ensures 100 per cent waste segregation at source, operates a biogas plant and composts wet and garden waste in-house, significantly reducing landfill waste. The campus has 487 trees of 60 species. Its design maximizes natural light, reducing the need for artificial lighting and fans.

Chief Administration Officer Jagadish Patil said, "In addition to the environmental initiatives, the institute has embraced digital technologies to reduce paper usage and promotes book swapping among students, contributing to a sustainable ecosystem. The 'Green University Award 2023' underscores the institute's commitment to forge a sustainable future, and simultaneously ignite inspiration to embrace this noble cause.

IN an attempt to create awareness about cardiac health, and emphasise on the importance of regular screening for heart-related issues, Bengaluru based Narayana Health performed 3,797 electrocardiograms (ECGs) within 24 hours, and created a Guinness World Record, on Thursday.

Dr Devi Shetty, Founder and Chairman of Narayana Health said, "Our attempt was made with the sole objective of creating awareness about health screening and the importance of regular check-ups to prevent heart diseases. Narayana Health conducts 3,797 ECGs in a day and creates a world record.

On the sidelines of World Heart Day, observed on September 29, cardiologists aimed to educate people about the rising burden of cardiovascular diseases in India. They organised a camp within the hospital to perform free ECGs for people aged 18 and above.

The doctors also explained that no hospital had attempted such a record previously within a single facility. The threshold for creating the record was only 250 ECGs, which was achieved within the first few hours of the day.

ECG is a simple step performed for studying a person's heart health. It records the electrical activity of the heart, allowing doctors to investigate further and start treatment accordingly, explained Dr Praveen Sadarmin, Consultant, Adult Cardiology, Narayana Health City. "India is already called the diabetes capital of the world, and is also likely to be the capital for cardiovascular diseases as well," he added.

Besides substance abuse, and poor sedentary lifestyle, stress is a leading factor for heart diseases, especially among the younger generation. Citizen in the age group 30-40 are advised a annual ECG, to keep a check on heart blockages and other cardiac issues.

PETER VIDAL

23RD September : We are heading for a Scorpionic moment. In other words, levels of passion are rising, and commonsense is decreasing. When so many people are inclined to act on the basis of gut instinct, those who do best may be those who buck the trend by sticking cautiously to the facts. I think I'll leave the choice to you!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
This could be a turbulent day, and cash and career issues will disturb your weekend peace. A touch of competition will add spice to routine activities, and you'd be advised to follow up new ideas without delay. Don't let the fact that you're a little over-emotional blind you to just how much is going your way.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
A powerful planetary alignment makes for an exciting day, but please try to strike a balance between promoting your own interests and looking after friends' affairs. This is no time to give in to mindless aggression - especially as soon as you lose your temper you'll be begging for forgiveness!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Dynamic planetary aspects can be turned to your advantage, so leave nothing to chance. If you have been held up by opposition from colleagues, there may be ways in which you can turn the tables on them. In fact, I suspect that you'll be able to make up for the slights and insults of years!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
There's a lot of tension in the air and family members and friends may be in a fighting mood. It's up to you to turn friction to everybody's advantage by suggesting positive alternatives. It's all to do with the Moon's challenging alignment, so it will pass very soon.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Stormy planetary influences could be useful if they help you clear the air. However, if you do have something to get off your chest, make sure your feelings are pointed in the right direction. Otherwise you'll sound off at the wrong people and sow the seeds for problems some way down the line.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There'll be plenty of scope for your diplomatic and healing powers today, largely because friends and colleagues will be falling out with each other. Relatives will seek your support, but don't get sucked into personal disputes. Try to get people to see that public good is better than private greed.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Your peaceful mood will not square with combative circumstances. Other people will be putting you on the spot, challenging you to come up with the goods. Relations may be on your side, though they may not necessarily be any help. But - at least they'll listen!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Energetic friends and associates rely on you for your steady qualities, but you're unlikely to be much use today. You'll be far too preoccupied with your own problems and ambitions to spare time for other people. But, then, they're too busy with their own ideas to worry!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It's an energetic day, celestially speaking. Nothing turns out as planned, but delays and sudden obstacles may be blessings in disguise if they divert you from a problematic and highly risky course of action. The time has come to reconsider your progress in all directions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There has been an interesting tie-up recently between personal and public aspirations on the one hand and business prospects and social life, on the other. You should seriously consider a range of options in all fields. The reason that there's no need to rush into final choices now is that circumstances are about to shift markedly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
There's plenty of scope to indulge your dramatic characteristics and qualities and, the more enterprising you are, the greater will be the prospects of success. Do not be disturbed if partners are in an angry mood - just let them get over it.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The accent is on hard work and energetic activity. However, if you achieve too much, too soon, you may risk a short-term loss or failure of some kind. Don't allow such a prospect to push you off course. And do plan ahead for next month - when your financial situation begins to pick up.

POLICE TO WRITE TO CITY TOP COP AGAINST BBMP CHIEF ENGINEER

Halasuru Gate police allege that Prahalad has ignored repeated notices sent to him

MOHAMMED YACOOB @BENGALURU

THE Halasuru Gate police will be writing to the Bengaluru City Police Commissioner and BBMP Chief Commissioner, bringing to their notice about the lack of cooperation from BBMP engineer-in-chief BS Prahalad in connection with the investigation into the BBMP lab fire tragedy.

According to police officials, even after Prahalad was served two notices to appear before the investigating officers, there has been no reply from his end.

The Halasuru Gate police is investigating the case surrounding the fire tragedy which occurred at the Quality Assurance Lab at the BBMP's head office on August 11 that claimed one life, and left eight people injured.

Investigators said they initially waited for Prahalad since he was tasked with an internal probe into the incident, and only last week, a report was given to the Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath in a sealed cover.

"It's been 42 days since the incident. We have served two notices to Prahalad to appear before us to explain regarding the accident, safety measures and other matters, but he has not appeared. Since he is a corporation official holding a high position, we will write to Bengaluru City Police Commissioner B Dayananda, seeking his intervention to decide on the next course of action," said an officer from Halasuru Gate police station.

Tough stand

An officer from the Central Police Division said that while the Halasuru Gate police will take a tough stand over Prahalad, since he is a government servant, they are following rules and will keep the Police Commissioner in the loop before taking any steps.

"In any other case, if a person fails to respond to a police notice twice, the police will either pick up the person or send another notice mentioning a tougher stand to be taken," the official said.

Deputy Commissioner Of Police (Central Division) Shekhar H Tekkannavar said a person is supposed to bring along documents as mentioned in the police notice to give explanation.

"If he or she does not respond to a police notice, a natural course of action will have to be taken," said Tekkannavar.

On August 11, a fire tragedy was reported around 5 pm in which nine BBMP staffers suffered injuries. A day after the incident, Halasuru Gate police detained three BBMP staffers and let them off on station bail. Later, a notice was sent to Prahalad's office, seeking explanation on staff details, CCTV footage, and steps taken at the lab, among other issues.

The seizure happened on September 17 and the passenger has been booked under Customs Act, 1962. According to a Customs official, "Based on passenger profiling, Customs officers intercepted his luggage at the International Arrivals area after he had collected it from the baggage belt.

These commercial goods were recovered from his hand baggage, as well as check-in baggage. The laptops were both new and old ones."

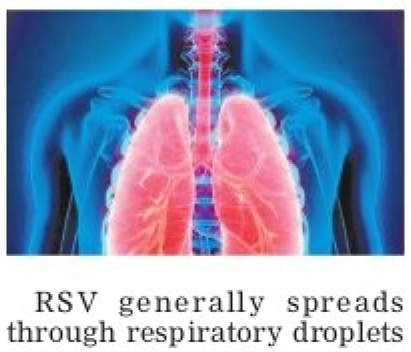
Mask up, RSV infection on the rise among adults

NAMRATA SINDWANI @Bengaluru



THOUGH the fear of Covid is gone and masks are not mandatory anymore, doctors advise citizens to follow appropriate 'Covid etiquette' as there is a sudden, unusual rise in respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) infection cases.

For the first time, there is a rise in RSV cases among adults, noted Dr Vivek Anand Padegal, Director (pulmonology), Fortis Hospital. In the past six weeks, he has seen close to 100 patients requiring hospitalisation, with 50 per cent of them being adults. The numbers are likely to be much higher if symptomatic patients in the OPD are tested for it. The RSV burden is generally associated with children as a seasonal disease, but adults are rarely diagnosed with it, the doctor added.

The sudden rise in cases is a cause for worry as people can suffer from long-term impact if timely treatment is not provided. Older patients with low oxygen levels can be more prone to a heart attack, and developing kidney and lung issues.

"We are also seeing a surge in RSV cases among infants and children. The previous year, we had seen 4-5 cases in six months, whereas now, 5-6 proven RSV cases are coming in every week," said Dr Parimala V Thirumalesh, Sr Consultant (neonatology and paediatrics), Aster CMI Hospital.

RSV generally spreads through respiratory droplets and close human contact with infected people. Doctors have noted that though RSV is one of the most common respiratory pathogens affecting all age groups, Dr Vasunethra Kasargod, Consultant (pulmonology), Manipal Hospital, has attributed the rise in cases to be 40-50 per cent in influenza-like illnesses seen in the past two weeks.

Patients report flu-like symptoms like fever, cough, runny nose, breathlessness and bodyache. Since there is no vaccine to prevent RSV infection, patients undergo symptomatic treatment, with bronchodilators, antihistamines or even an antibiotic.

Dr Kasargod asked people to wear masks and follow good hand hygiene as a precautionary measure. High-risk individuals with underlying respiratory diseases such as asthma or interstitial lung diseases and other comorbidities like diabetes, hypertension or immuno-compromised state due to HIV, must be extra cautious.

Birthday boy, friend die as speeding bike rams roadside pole

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

BIRTHDAY celebrations for a 23-year-old man, who was the son of a private university vice-chancellor, ended in a tragedy after he along with his friend lost their lives in a road accident in Yeshwanthpur traffic police station limits in the early hours of Friday.

The victims are identified as D Nikhil, son of the V-C, and Manmohan (31), both residents of Sanjaynagar. Nikhil, who turned 23 on Friday, celebrated with family members. After cutting the cake, both Nikhil and Manmohan went for a ride on his BMW bike to meet other friends on MG Road. The incident occurred around 3.20 am on Friday near the BSNL office opposite Metro pillar 308 in RMC Yard on the Yeshwanthpur Road towards Tumakuru.

While returning home, Nikhil, who was reportedly riding the bike, is suspected to have lost balance while allegedly over-speeding and rammed a roadside electric pole, killing both himself and Manmohan on the spot. The two were not wearing helmets. Their bodies were shifted to MS Ramaiah Hospital for postmortem.

Nikhil was pursuing MBA at a private college in Kalyan Nagar and Manmohan was a loan recovery agent with a private bank.

"Nikhil left home to celebrate his birthday with his other friends on MG Road. However, it is not sure, if they went to MG Road or visited any other place. Over-speeding is suspected to have led to the accident. Blood samples of both the deceased have been collected and sent to FSL to ascertain if they were under the influence of alcohol. In the impact, both were thrown in the air and killed on the spot with severe head injuries. Chances of their survival would have been more if they were wearing helmets," said an officer.

The Yeshwanthpur traffic police has registered a case and are further investigating.

Teen dies by suicide, reason not clear

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 17-year-old girl jumped off the thirteenth floor of an apartment building near Mysuru Road on Wednesday, in Byatarayanapura police station limits. The reason for the extreme step is yet to be ascertained.

Vijaylakshmi was a second-year PU student. She lived with her mother, who works in the housekeeping department at a private homeopathy hospital. They were staying in Jnanabharathi for the past three years, following her mother's separation from her husband.

The deceased went to Dharmasthala on Monday without informing her mother, and had left her phone at home so that no one could contact her. There, she met someone known to her family. He advised her to return home and even gave her his contact number for assistance.

On her way back home on Wednesday, she entered an apartment building in Byatarayanapura, told the security guard that she had come to visit a friend, and jumped off the 13th floor around 6.45pm.

Her mother had noticed a change in her daughter's behaviour, and reportedly told police that she had not been speaking to her for the past week after returning home from school. Police recovered a handwritten suicide note from her bag. She had claimed that she was responsible for her decision to end her life, and also mentioned that no arrest should be made in connection with her death.

Byatarayanapura police registered a case of unnatural death. Further investigation is in progress.

CENTRE SHOULD NOW OKAY MEKEDATU PROJECT: DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Friday claimed that the Supreme Court, while hearing Tamil Nadu's plea for release of Cauvery water on Thursday, had stated that let TN take its share of water and allow Karnataka to implement reservoir projects on its territory.

"So, the Centre should now give permission to Karnataka to implement the Mekedatu balancing reservoir project, which is the only solution to the Cauvery issue," he told reporters here.

He said, "We have to release TN's share of water as per the court's order. Even during yesterday's (Thursday) hearing, the court stated that while you (TN) will get your share of water, allow Karnataka to build dams on its territory. Why are you interfering in this matter?" The court suggested that the issue be resolved at the lower level, he added.

"Keeping this issue in mind, our BJP friends should pressure the Union Government led by their party to grant approval for the Mekedatu project," Shivakumar said.

Stating that when BJP was ruling the State, the then PM Manmohan Singh convened a meeting of the Cauvery Authority to discuss the issue, Shivakumar said, "We are ready to go to New Delhi now. Let the Union Government convene a meeting."

The court rejected the petitions of both States and farmers and made it clear that it will not interfere with the order of the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA). This has forced Karnataka to release 5,000 cusecs of water daily to TN till September 27.

He said such a situation prevailed during the rule of BJP and JDS in the State. "Even then, the State released water to TN. We have a record wherein the BJP government had filed an affidavit before the SC stating that it will release 10,000 cusecs of water to TN. However, BJP's Yediyurappa and Basavaraj Bommai are now opposing the State Government's move. "I don't want to do politics at this juncture," he said.

Shivakumar appealed to various Kannada and farmers' organisations not to go ahead with Sunday's Mandya bandh.

NOT FOLLOWING SC ORDER WILL NOT BE A VIOLATION, SAYS HDK

NEW DELHI/BENGALURU: JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy on Saturday said he supports the bandh called by the people of Mandya to protest against the release of water to TN. He said he will return to Bengaluru from Delhi on Saturday morning and will head directly to Mandya. He said, "I briefed (Union Home Minister) Amit Shah on the ground situation." He said the State Government filed the petition before the Supreme Court too late. Urging the government not to follow the SC order, he said, "If the court passes a strict order that cannot be followed, the State Government's decision in the interest of the people will not be a violation of the order." But legal experts said it would amount to contempt of court. They said Kumaraswamy too had released water during his tenure as CM. Kumaraswamy said, "In the state, we have three former chief justices of India, several retired Supreme Court judges and six legal experts who worked as advocates general. Doesn't the government have the common sense to invite them and hold meetings?" ENS

Govt will decide on its strategy after Sept 26, says DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE State Government will decide on its strategy on the Cauvery water crisis after September 26, when the state's case will come up for hearing in courts, said Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar after a Cabinet meeting here on Friday.

The advocate general explained the Cauvery issue to the cabinet. "Tamil Nadu had sought over 7,000 cusecs which the Supreme Court rejected, while our appeal that we cannot give 5,000 cusecs to Tamil Nadu too was rejected," he added. Shivakumar said that on an average, 3,500 cusecs of water flows to Tamil Nadu naturally. "We were told to release 5,000 cusecs till September 26 and we will decide our strategy after that."

He said, "Our government is pro-farmer. Let other parties play their politics, but we will work for farmers. On the other side of the border, they are committed to release water to farmers, while on our side, we can only take care of drinking water needs. We have already released 34% of water to Tamil Nadu."

He said they have requested the Union government to invite the Tamil Nadu government too for talks on the Cauvery issue. He said that during the Supreme Court hearing, there was a mention of Mekedatu project as the Tamil Nadu government had appealed to the court to stop the project. The previous government had filed an affidavit.

Though the government had kept aside Rs 100 crore for the Mekedatu project, it never took off. "But we are now taking it forward by producing the documents before CWMA and by talking to the authorities concerned about the Supreme Court order. The project is yet to get the environment clearance and other approvals," he added.

The court also realised that the project is important for both states, he added.

Cong politicising issue to hide its failures: Bommai

ENS @ Bengaluru

FORMER CM and BJP leader Basavaraj Bommai said that if the State Government neglects Karnataka's interests in the Cauvery water row, pontiffs, farmers, and citizens of Bengaluru will rebel against it.

Speaking to reporters after a meeting with the party office-bearers of the Cauvery basin districts regarding the next course of action on the Cauvery issue, Bommai said the government has been committing mistakes from day one. "The state had to release 7.5 tmcft of water to TN for not effectively presenting the case before the Supreme Court. Even after this, the government has not disclosed its course of action before the people of Karnataka. BJP would view this seriously and hold protests in the Cauvery basin districts," he said.

He accused the government of doing politics to cover up its failures. "Our Congress leaders are not ready to talk to TN CM MK Stalin and instead, they point the fingers towards the Centre," he added. He said that the government must file an interim application before the apex court about drinking water for Bengaluru and the use of additional quantity of water by TN.

'ANANTH KUMAR WAS ALWAYS A SAVIOUR'

Speaking at 'Ananth Kumar 64' the birth anniversary of former union minister HN Ananth Kumar, Bommai said whenever any issue related to Karnataka came up at the Central Government level, Ananth Kumar was always a saviour. Recalling Ananth Kumar's contribution to Karnataka, Bommai said in the Krishna water-sharing issue when both Andhra Pradesh and Telangana demanded a separate allocation of water, Ananth Kumar had directed the law secretary to write a letter in favour of Karnataka. When the officer refused, Ananth Kumar told him that he would be changed, Bommai said and added after that the officer put his signature.

Water released to TN despite stiff opposition

But he was quick to add, "What will be recorded at the gauging station at Biligundlu is that of leakage or seepage from the reservoir and not exactly the water that we have released."

However, 5,734 cusecs of water 'released' would flow towards the Biligundlu station.

The Karnataka Government has been trying to present its distress situation and inability to release water to Tamil Nadu. But after the SC ruling that Karnataka must comply with the CWMA direction to release 5,000 cusecs of water to Tamil Nadu daily for 15 days, it was left with no option but to do so despite stiff opposition.

K'taka bans transport of fodder to other states

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

THE Karnataka government has ordered a ban on sale and transport of fodder to neighbouring states in the wake of a weak monsoon and slump in sowing activities in the Cauvery basin.

Animal Husbandry Minister K Venkatesh said that the deputy commissioners of Mysuru, Chamarajanagar, Kodagu, and other districts in the Cauvery basin have been told to ban the sale and transport of fodder to other states. He said that the State Government has decided to give free seeds to farmers to grow fodder to feed their cattle.

On compensation to farmers who lost their cattle to foot and mouth disease, Venkatesh said that the previous BJP government had stopped paying relief and the new Congress government has now decided to pay Rs 10,000 for each cattle death and Rs 5,000 in case of death of sheep and goats. "We have directed the officials to pay compensation to farmers who lost their cattle last year and released Rs 20 crore for this purpose," he added.

Pashu Sahayak

Venkatesh said that the Union Government has funded the Pashu Shayak scheme and will pay Rs 3,900 per month to each woman pashu sahayak who will be trained in handling cattle and work as a bridge between the cattle owner and veterinary doctors. He said the programme will be launched by Chief Minister Sidddaramaiah on September 26 in Uthanahalli in his Varuna constituency.

The government, keen to contain foot and mouth disease, will also launch the fourth round of vaccination, he added.

Protests intensify, Mandya bandh today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru/Bengaluru

FARMER associations and pro-Kannada outfits on Friday intensified the protest against the release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu. Police tightened security across the state and Home Minister G Parameshwara appealed to agitators to protest peacefully, and not to destroy public property.

The agitation intensified in Cauvery heartland Mandya, where a bandh will be observed on Saturday, as Adichunchanagiri Mutt seer Sri Nirmalananda Swamy joined the Raitha Hitarakshana Samithi and extended support for the peaceful stir. Stating that release of water to TN will affect drinking water needs here, he said the State Government should continue to challenge the Supreme Court order. He added that the tribunal is silent on the distress formula, which is the only solution to resolve the dispute.

Farmer leader Kurubur Shanthakumar and others protest in Mysuru on Friday | EXPRESS

Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambareesh's son Abhishek, who participated in the protest, said Karnataka and Tamil Nadu should set aside politics and hold talks to resolve the row. Discharging water would push the region into an acute water crisis, he said.

Farmers protesting in Mysuru were arrested when they tried to enter the ZP office and gherao Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh.

Farmer leader Kurubur Shanthakumar said the government should stock water to meet drinking water needs as the Northeast monsoon, expected in November, will save crops in TN. "The government should form a new constitutional authority comprising experts from Cauvery basin states to come up with an acceptable distress formula," he said.

Meanwhile, enraged over the lukewarm response to the agitation from Bengaluru region, Kannada activists gathered near the Bengaluru Water Supply Board office at Thorekadanahalli main gate in Malavalli. They demanded that water supply to Bengaluru be stopped, and be diverted to farmers.

In Bengaluru, Karnataka Rakshana Vedike activists staged a protest in front of the KR Puram BBMP office. As they started marching towards Vidhana Soudha, around 80 activists were taken into preventive custody and released later. Protests were also held at Attibele checkpost, near the Karnataka-Tamil Nadu border, while the agitation spread to Chitradurga, Ballari, Davanagere, Koppal and Vijayapura.

Parameshwara said there is nothing wrong with the protest. "The government has no objection to it. It is their right. But agitators must do it peacefully and not resort to any violence, including damaging public property," he said.

Bengaluru Police Commissioner B Dayananda met his officers and directed them to be on high alert. All security measures have been taken. Officers were instructed to prevent damage to Tamil Nadu buses and private vehicles.

Gowda's secular image affected, alliance with BJP only way out for party's survival, say experts

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

JDS patriarch HD Deve Gowda's secular image, which was cultivated carefully for long, is in tatters with the party deciding to form an alliance with the right-wing BJP, said political observers.

The party will straightaway lose the support of minorities, which it enjoyed in different parts of the state. It could also be deprived of the backing of some Dalit and OBC sections. Henceforth, it will just be a Vokkaliga party, that too 'Gangadikara Vokkaliga party'. This is because some other subsects, like Masrasu Vokkaligas and Dasa Vokkaligas, are slowly moving away from JDS, said political analyst BS Murthy.

With the alliance, party senior leader and former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy could become the Assembly opposition leader in the state as the post has been lying vacant till now.

JDS leader and former CM HD Kumaraswamy meets Union Home Minister Amit Shah and BJP national president JP Nadda, in New Delhi on Friday

On Gowda, Murthy said, "It is a sad ending to a superb career. Finally, it has come down to saving the political careers of his sons and grandsons. With the alliance, it will be Gowda's stature that will fall the most."

A leader of the party admitted that the tie-up aimed at the 2024 Lok Sabha polls will surely cost them dear, while Gowda's image as a secular leader too will be affected. Asked if Jayaprakash Narayan's photographs at the party office be removed, he said no. He said the arrangement was inevitable for the survival of the party. Party workers said, "Did Nitish Kumar (Bihar chief minister) become less secular by going with BJP? BJP fights for only 85 per cent of votes as minorities may not support them. This is expected to help JDS."

The party had been complaining of fund crunch and whether the tie-up would help the regional party on that front too remains to be seen, Murthy said. The vote share of JDS, which witnessed a massive dip in the Assembly elections, would have dropped to a single digit if there was no alliance and it also risked becoming irrelevant politically, he added.

What will happen to JDS support to the Left government in Kerala? Will BJP risk its Lingayat support base with this arrangement are some of the important questions that are yet to be answered.

But as soon as the Congress government came to power, a cabinet decision was taken to conduct the local body polls," he said. ISRO's attempts to wake up lander, rover fail, but hope remains

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

ATTEMPTS to reactivate Chandrayaan-3's lander Vikram and rover Pragyaan on Friday evening proved futile as ISRO scientists failed to re-establish contact to resume the mission at the Moon's south pole.

"Efforts have been made to establish communication with the lander and rover to ascertain their wake-up condition. As of now, no signals have been received from them," said ISRO on platform X at 6.48pm on Friday. ISRO's Telemetry, Tracking and Command Network (ISTRAC) tried to re-establish contact with the lander and rover, but reawakening could not be guaranteed.

However, ISRO scientists have not given up hope. They will try again on Saturday, hoping that the lander and rover's batteries are better recharged with more time as the solar panels get heated. The Sun rose on the lunar south pole on Wednesday.

Pragyaan and Vikram were put in a sleep mode on September 2 and 4, respectively, to avoid damage to their systems on exposure to extreme cold of around -200 degrees Celsius. The mission was launched on July 14 and the Chandrayaan-3 propulsion module carried the lander and rover through the lunar orbits before releasing the lander carrying the rover, which made a successful soft-landing near the lunar south pole on August 23, the first to ever do so.

The sunrise over the lunar horizon on Wednesday, however, did not seem to have reduced the effects of the extreme cold as low as -203 degrees Celsius on the Moon's south pole, which may have prevented effective reactivation of the lander and rover's batteries, ISRO scientists said, adding that they remain hopeful of achieving success in the coming days.

The solar panels on the rover and lander need sufficient heat to warm up and reactivate the solar panels for batteries to recharge and get into action. Experts said the revival could take a couple of days if consistent heat on the Moon's south pole is received.

Nilesh Desai, Director, ISRO's Space Application Centre (SAC), Ahmedabad, on Friday confirmed to a news agency that attempts would be made to reactivate Vikram and Pragyaan on Saturday. ISRO informed that "efforts to establish contact (with the lander and rover) will continue."

SC SEEKS RESPONSE FROM UDHAYANIDHI

SHRUTI KAKKAR
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday sought the response of Tamil Nadu minister and DMK leader Udhayanidhi Stalin in plea seeking registration of FIR against his remarks in a conference on September 2, 2023 held in Chennai.

Since the plea had also sought FIR against the organisers of the September 2 meeting titled "Sanatana Dharma Eradication conference" and also Tamil Nadu Hindu Religious Charitable Endowment Minister PK Sekar Babu and Chairman of State Minorities Commission, Peter Alphonse, a bench of Justices Aniruddha Bose and Bela M Trivedi sought response from Tamil Nadu government, CBI and nine other parties.

The plea was filed by Madras HC lawyer B Jagannath who had also sought to declare participation of state ministers in September 2 meeting titled "Sanatana Dharma Eradication conference" as unconstitutional, had also sought for CBI probe into the event. Jagannath appearing through Senior Advocate Dama Sheshadhari Naidu told the court such remarks by "constitutional authority" were impermissible.

"Circulars have been given that students should speak against it. Such speeches by the constitutional authority is impermissible and students should not be forced to say that this & this religions are bad," Senior Counsel also said.

Jagannath in his plea had further prayed for directing the Home Secretary and TN DGP to appoint a nodal officer for hate speech and also submit a report as to how police gave permission for holding such conference.

It was argued in the plea that the conference which was held specifically to target Hinduism, to abuse, humiliate, speak in derogatory language and spread hatred towards Sanatanam Dharma.

"The tenor & intention of the conference & the manner in which the same was conducted by the organisers was done to spread hatred, venom & abuse & make derogatory statements against Hindus as it is quite obvious that it is the Hindus who practice Sanatanam Dharma Religion," the plea stated.

Siddu to officials: Increase thermal power production

ENS @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday questioned energy department officials on poor generation of power from thermal power units.

He pointed out that there was no increase in power generation over the past four years in thermal power stations, against the installed capacity of 32,009 MW, at a review meeting of the energy department. In 2017-18, power production had increased to 27,780 MW, from 14,048 MW in 2013-14 in the thermal units, he added.

Siddaramaiah instructed officials to take all necessary steps to ensure electricity generation is in accordance with the installed capacity of the thermal plants, but told them not to use wet coal. Officials stated that power generation had been affected because of the poor quality and quantity of coal supply, and it had been brought to the notice of the central government. A request has been made for two additional coal rakes on a daily basis, and tenders have also been called for importing coal.

Generation of renewable energy and use of solar electric pump sets for irrigation was also discussed. The chief minister told officials to ensure there are no illegal pump sets and prevent power transmission leakages, including in urban areas.

Officials informed him that 1.35 crore consumers are getting 'zero bills' under the Gruha Jyothi scheme in the state. For the month of August and September, bills for Rs 1,400 crore have been generated and submitted to the state government for clearance. To the demand of Rs 2,500 crore by various energy supply corporations (Escoms) for the establishment of power substations, Siddaramaiah said the financial situation and details would be discussed in the cabinet.

Finalise process for supply of high-security number plates: HC to govt

ENS @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed the state government to finalise and publish the process to be followed by vehicle manufacturers in connection with the supply of High-Security Registration Plates (HSRP). They are to accord approval to all licence plate manufacturers with the necessary Type Approval Certificate (TAC) within 15 days.

Justice BM Shyam Prasad passed the interim order, subject to further orders of the court after petitions filed by the HSRP Manufacturers' Association of India and others. Further, the court said the petitioners must be reserved liberty to participate in the process that is to be finalised by the state government, pursuant to this order.

The petitioners have challenged the notification dated August 17, 2023, issued by the transport department, allowing only manufacturers and their authorised dealers to fix HSRP for old vehicles registered prior to April 1, 2019.

The petitioners contended that implementation of the HSRP scheme, inviting tenders, would create a monopoly, to the detriment of the rights of other licence plate manufacturers. They prayed to court to issue directions to the transport commissioner to allow all HSRP manufacturers enlisted in the 'Vahan' portal, who have the necessary TAC issued by competent testing agencies approved by the Central government, to supply and fix HSRP on old vehicles registered before April 1, 2019, in Karnataka.

Electric bus goes up in flames in pile-up on NH

SAHAYA NOVINSTON LOBO @ Chennai

AN electric bus with 20 passengers on board went up in flames on Friday morning near Chembarambakkam on the Chennai-Bengaluru National Highway after it got sandwiched between two buses in a three-vehicle pile-up.

The passengers had a narrow escape as they immediately disembarked from the bus before it was completely engulfed by flames. Fire service officers said a circuit mishap, set off by the collision, may have triggered the blaze.

The bus, which belongs to a private travel company, was headed for Bengaluru from Koyambedu bus terminus on Friday.

"Around 6 am, when the bus was near Chembarambakkam, it dashed against a government bus moving in the front after the driver of the government bus hit the brake suddenly.

Another private bus that was coming behind rammed the rear of the electric bus," a police officer said. Minutes later, after the vehicles moved past, smoke started emanating from the battery cabin in the back. After the passengers alerted driver Ambaresh, the bus was halted and they all got out of the vehicle.

Sub-registrars' offices to open from 8am to 8pm till Sept 30

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Revenue Department has decided to keep all sub-registrars' offices across the State open between 8 am and 8 pm from September 23 to September 30.

This is in view of the Central Valuation Committee of Stamps and Registration Department's decision to revise the guidance value of properties for 2023-24. The new guidance value will come into effect on October 1.

Anticipating more rush for registration of properties at the present guidance value, the Revenue Department has decided to extend the working hours at the sub-registrars' offices. This move is likely to increase pressure on employees working there. They will work even on government holidays between September 23 and September 30, according to a statement. Inspector-General of Registration and Commissioner of Stamps BR Mamatha said people can make use of this benefit.

TIME TO RATION WATER, SAVE UP FOR NEXT SUMMER, SAY EXPERTS

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH a patchy monsoon affecting water levels in dams, experts suggest that the government should start rationing water supply to urban areas and for irrigation with immediate effect.

According to officials from the Water Resources Department (WRD) and Ground Water Board, only surface water is being tapped optimally. Ground water has not been tapped in the command areas, and should be used in times of distress.

They suggest that the government should reduce water supply for irrigation, industries and to urban areas immediately by 20 to 30 per cent. This water should be stored and used in summer if the northeast monsoon fails. Rainwater harvesting expert AR Shivakumar said that according to the World Health Organisation (WHO) and Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) guidelines, a family of four needs 12,000-15,000 litres of water on a monthly basis, but in urban areas, including Bengaluru, a family utilises 20,000-40,000 litres of water a month. There is a lack of planning in urban water utilisation, he said.

Water expert Vishwanath Srikantaiah said ground water should be looked at for cultivation, especially in the command areas. He added that the problem is becoming more political. Karnataka's water share from the Cauvery is only 25 per cent, while its utilisation of water from other sources is much higher.

"In the past 32 years, Karnataka faced a drought and water tussle with Tamil Nadu six times. There was lack of planning and preparation from the government side, which has reflected now," admitted a WRD official.

"There is 51 tmcft water in all four reservoirs of the basin put together. We need 70 tmcft for standing crops, 33 tmcft for drinking and 3 tmcft for industries. Irrigation will take a beating as farmers undertook sowing against warnings. Farmers in both states need to be convinced now," said the official.

An expert from IISc said Cauvery catchment area has 50 per cent deficit rainfall which is leading to the problem. Farmers need to understand better water management for irrigation. The role of agriculture universities comes in here.

Rain forecast for 8 days, but not enough to address K'taka's woes

Bengaluru: Even as the India Meteorological Department (IMD) has forecast rain for the next eight days over most parts of the country, including Karnataka, officials say that this final phase of the South West Monsoon will not be enough for Karnataka to recover from the rain deficit. According to IMD, while Karnataka has recorded 20% deficit rainfall till September, the figure in the Cauvery basin districts is 33%. Kodagu has recorded 43% less rain. "The monsoon is active across India and Karnataka. Its withdrawal will start from September end. Normal rainfall has been forecast for the Cauvery basin and above-normal rainfall has been forecast for coastal and north interior Karnataka," IMD scientist, A Prasad, told The New Indian Express. Another IMD official said that normal rainfall in the last eight days of September will not help bridge the deficit gap. "Only if there is extreme heavy rainfall, can the situation improve... which is unlikely. Also during the North East Monsoon, the Karnataka part of the Cauvery basin will get rainfall only when weather systems form. However, Tamil Nadu will get normal rainfall. So the Cauvery basin in Karnataka will continue to have deficit water even in October," added the official.

WEIGH SECURITY RISKS BEFORE ENFORCING DATA PROTECTION ACT

DIGITAL data protection legislation has had a bumpy ride so far. The first draft of the Data Protection Bill was introduced in 2018, but was withdrawn after multiple amendments and critical responses. Then the 2023 version was pushed through both houses of parliament without much discussion, and received presidential assent a little over a month ago. The Act that was hurried through is replete with the phrase "yet to be prescribed"—and therein lies the red herring. The Digital Personal Data Protection Act 2023 is still too premature for implementation, as it would rely heavily on a slew of rules that are yet to be formulated and notified. The Union government's informal assurance that it would take another six to twelve months to formulate the rules is welcome. The timeframe makes sense because, meanwhile, the IT ministry has invited Big Tech companies like Google, Apple and Meta to share their views.

The Act's object—to provide for a system that protects the personal data of individuals and allows it to be processed for lawful purposes—is indeed necessary. However, regulating digitised data is a new frontier and there are many imponderables to be settled. Hopefully, the interaction with Big Tech outfits would help frame the debate. The issues include the timeline of implementation and whether all entities would go for it at the same time, or giants such as Google would do it differently than smaller companies. For one, Big Tech is concerned about blocking out those below 18 years of age from accessing some apps.

It is estimated that the rules for implementing the Act would require action in as many as 26 sectors. The government should use this time to ensure that the data protection machinery being set up is a strong deterrent to hackers. Not long ago, we were treated to the spectacle of masses of Aadhaar data being compromised despite the government's assurances on security. The high deterrence prescribed by way of fines—of as much as ₹250 crore for breach of security—is commendable. There are shortcomings, too. Critics point out that the Act allows a limitless process of delegated legislation to make subsidiary rules. This can be misused and lead to a vague and onerous implementation machinery. The Data Protection Board is without an independent selection process and could be packed with government nominees. These concerns deserve serious thought.

KERALA MUST CONFRONT EVIL OF UNTOUCHABILITY

KERALITES believe they are insulated from the kind of caste discrimination and violence that bedevils other parts of the country. They choose to think, perhaps with some quiet pride, that the giant strides made by religious reformers such as Narayana Guru, Ayyankali and Sahodaran Ayyappan had cured the malady of caste in the state forever. But an experience endured by a state minister has brought the touchy subject of untouchability back to centre-stage. The state's devaswom and SC-ST welfare minister, K Radhakrishnan, recently revealed that a priest in Kannur district's Payyannur had refused to hand him a lamp at a function held on temple premises earlier this year. The priest, instead, had placed the lamp on the floor. The minister, who is a Dalit, felt slighted and said it was a deed of untouchability.

Outrage has poured forth in public from both the ruling and opposition parties. On the other side, two organisations representing temple priests, Yoga Kshema Sabha and Akhila Kerala Thanthri Samajam, have offered a justification. They claim the act cannot be construed as one of untouchability because the priest was only abstaining from touching anyone during a puja to preserve his ritualistic shudhi (purity). The minister countered that it would not have been possible for the priest to arrive at the venue, wade through the crowd, and avoid touching anyone. Moreover, it was a public function and not a temple ritual. Indeed, untouchability derives from an extreme idea of purity.

Untouchability is legally barred, but socially practised around the country. Article 17 of the Constitution prohibits untouchability. Public practice of it is an offence under Section 3 of the Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe (Prevention of Atrocities) Act 1989. These laws apply in Kerala as much as they do in the rest of the country. The minister's experience shows that casteism had just been swept under the carpet in Kerala, not wiped out. As minister Radhakrishnan himself said, it is impossible to erase at one go a mentality that has sedimented in the minds of people for centuries. It needs sustained and conscious efforts if society is to rise above this relic of prejudice. It is time Keralites wake up from their cosy slumber and do some soul-searching.

QUICK TAKE

BANISH THOSE WORDS FROM PARLIAMENT

BJP member Ramesh Bidhuri has disgraced parliament by addressing BSP member Danish Ali with vile, communal taunts. The Lok Sabha speaker has expunged the comments and served him a stern warning. The defence minister has apologised for the ruling party. The Opposition is demanding the member's suspension. There is another way to ensure that such filth does not stain the house again. The Lok Sabha secretariat publishes a compendium of unparliamentary terms—a list gleaned from terms struck out in parliament and in state assemblies. We suggest the words 'pimp', 'circumcised' and 'terrorist' be added to the list, so that no member can address another as such on the floor of the august chamber.

Revising laws, holding simultaneous polls, and changing the nation's name go against federalism. It is a call for a different Constitution rather than amending the one we have

THREE IDEAS FOR ONE NATION, ONE FAT CENTRE

KALEESWARAM RAJ

Lawyer, Supreme Court of India

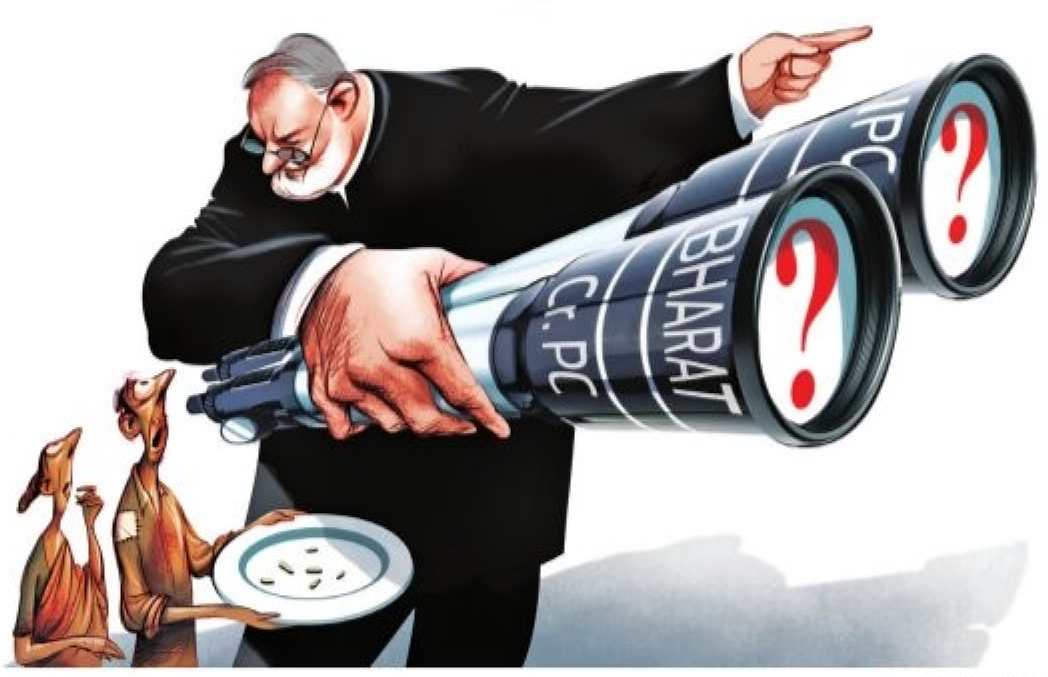
THREE ideas mooted by the Centre recently have ignited debates. The first one seeks to replace three old laws: the Indian Penal Code (IPC), the Criminal Procedure Code (CrPC), and the Evidence Act. The second is a proposal for simultaneous elections to the Lok Sabha and state legislatures. The third is a possible change in the nation's formal name from India or Bharat to Bharat only.

The three ideas have some characteristics in common. They come from the top. They are unilateral; they are not the product of any dialogue between the government and the governed. Yet, all three have a populist tenor. The Centre appears to think that such measures can woo voters in the upcoming elections, or at least distract them from other significant issues facing the nation such as price rise, unemployment, corporate appeasement, and violence in Manipur.

Constitutionally, all three ideas tend to subvert Indian federalism. In S R Bommai vs Union of India (1994), the Supreme Court said that federalism, like secularism, is one of the basic features of the Constitution. An advanced form of democracy honours the rights and aspirations of the states that constitute the Union. It means decentralisation, inclusiveness and tolerance.

Take the proposal to amend the three codes. The Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, and Bharatiya Sakshya Bill have been mooted to replace the IPC, CrPC and Evidence Act, respectively. Thousands of other laws, both pre-constitutional and post-constitutional, bear English titles. There has been no proposal to alter these so far. The present regime has actually been promulgating laws with English titles.

Article 348 of the Constitution states that "all Acts passed by parliament or the legislature of a state" shall be in the English language. The title of the law is an inseparable part of it and so should be in English. This will also ensure there is no prejudice against non-Hindi speaking states.



SOUMYADIP SINHA

There are other difficulties, too. According to the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution, public order and police come under the state list, which means the legislative prerogative in these areas lies with the states. Criminal law and criminal procedure come under the concurrent list, where the states as well as the Union government have legislative authority. If statutes are enacted in Hindi or Sanskrit, it would create confusion in non-Hindi speaking states. State amendments might face a linguistic dilemma. This logic applies to all legislations and not just the three newly-mooted Sanhitas. This is precisely the rationale of Article 348. The present move negates this logic. Ironically, the content of the new laws, which unsettles the notions we had about the older laws, will remain in English.

Let us come to the second idea. The proposal for simultaneous elections is not merely one for limiting the number of elections. It will reduce voters' freedom of expression and every vote is an expression, as explained by the Supreme Court in PUCL vs Union of India (2003) and Anoop Baranwal vs Union of India (2023).

For the proposal to materialise, at least some provisions in the Constitution such as Articles 83 and 85 that deal with the tenure of parliament, and Articles 172 and 174 that deal with the tenure of state legislatures will have to be altered. Article 356—the provision for President's rule when there is a constitutional breakdown in a state—may also have to be drastically changed.

The significance of the Rajya Sabha is yet to be understood adequately in the Indian political context. Even when the Lok Sabha is prone to the vice of majoritarianism, a different structure in the council of states can check such impulses of the party in power at the Centre. Therefore, even if passing some laws is easy in the Lok Sabha, it may not be so in the Rajya Sabha if there are other parties in power in a number of states. The Rajya Sabha and Lok Sabha are structurally and characteristically different. Therefore, elections to the state legislatures, which have a bearing on the composition of the Rajya Sabha, need not be concurrent with the Lok Sabha election.

The idea of 'One nation, one election' cuts at the very root of the dialectical relation between states and the Centre. The proponents of this idea cite that simultaneous elections were possible in 1951-52, 1957, 1962 and 1967. This was because the dissolution of the state assemblies was rare in the early decades of our democracy. More and more state governments were dismantled subsequently for different reasons, warranting separate state elections. Anticipating this, the Constitution did not prescribe simultaneous polls.

It is this scheme of the Constitution which the populist regime wants to disrupt. It is a call for a different Constitution rather than an amendment of the present one. It is a call for a centrist dispensation which is moving closer to the presidential system.

Studies show that simultaneous elections are not politically feasible or economically desirable. Contrary to claims, this model would not reduce electoral expenses. It is ironic that political parties do not feel uncomfortable about being funded by companies whose identity is not even publicly revealed. Instead of reducing the parties' election expenditure, the regime tries to minimise the number of elections.

The third idea is the India-Bharat conundrum. The first line of the Constitution's Article 1, which states, "India, that is Bharat, shall be a Union of States", is meant to resolve it. The move would exclude and divide, as many states do not agree with this idea. It is widely believed that the immediate provocation for this idea was the Opposition naming its alliance INDIA, an acronym crafted to be identical with the nation's name.

An essential feature of this central government is the superficiality of some of its policies and politics. It believed that withdrawing some currency denominations would eradicate black money. It wants us to believe that by changing the names of laws or of the country, and by overhauling the electoral arrangement, the system would improve. This is distractive populism—at its best and worst.

SEED DIGITAL AGRICULTURE NOW, REAP A HARVEST OF HIGH GROWTH

DR MONORANJAN MOHANTY

Adviser, Office of Principal Scientific Adviser, GOI

Global Research Programme Director, International Crops Research Institute for the Semi-Arid Tropics

THE science of digital agriculture (DA) has been gaining prominence. What's driving it is the need to address the growing challenges in agriculture through new technologies that can improve last-mile delivery to small farmers. DA aims to bring agriculturists and digital technologists together to that end.

Digital agriculture has a significant role to play in increasing the productivity and profitability of farms, strengthening access to diverse marketing channels, and increasing resilience to climate change. The science of DA offers a range of solutions including smart farming techniques, precision agriculture, data-driven decision support, and financial services. However, most DA technologies are not yet sufficiently accessible to farmers and extension workers. There are still big gaps that need attention, including access to digital infrastructure and digital literacy of farmers.

India's agricultural sector is of utmost importance as it provides livelihood to almost three-fifths of the country's population and contributes over a fifth of its gross domestic product. According to the Niti Aayog, the agriculture sector must grow by at least four percent for the nation's economy to grow at eight to ten percent. DA can help achieve this growth. Some other countries are already making use of it. The global DA market is projected to grow at a compounded rate of 9.6 percent to reach $22.1 billion by 2028.

The government has taken several initiatives to promote DA such as the Digital Agriculture Mission 2021-25, which encourages projects based on advanced technologies such as artificial intelligence, blockchain, remote sensing, robotics and drones. Schemes such as the National Mission on Horticulture, India Digital Ecosystem of Agriculture framework, and the National Agriculture Market have been launched. Startups are offering farmers digital tools to manage their crops better, such as mobile apps, e-commerce services, crop advisories, financial services and market linkages. The use of data-driven algorithms are bringing automation to farm management. Recent developments in 5G telecommunications can accelerate the use of DA technologies. Under India's G20 presidency, one of the focuses has been on strengthening the DA ecosystem and developing the Digital Public Infrastructure (DPI).

Data inconsistencies, projects working in silos, and lack of access are holding back DA's potential. Disparate data sources and non-standardised collection methods lead to inaccurate, outdated and duplicate data. The lack of trust in data hampers analysis and decision-making. Public players, private players and research institutes must pool data and integrate them in a standardised format. Agriculture experts are calling for a revolution in data management to enhance practices and improve productivity. To ensure accelerated technology adoption, data-sharing policies and ethics need strengthening.

Digital agriculture uses technology to help farmers with financial services, data-driven decision making and smart farming. The government needs to provide the infrastructure that will enable it

The major stakeholders in the agri-ecosystem are farmers, agri-extension systems, research organisations, startups, market supply chain actors for inputs and outputs, government regulators, financial institutions and consumers. The requirements of each stakeholder are different but interdependent. Farmers need location-specific information on financial support, seeds, weather advisory, plant protection, and market linkages. Extension agents require easy-to-use applications to get all the information on the package of practices, development schemes and mobile data collection, while market players need data products on crop coverage, input demands and yield forecast. Regulators or policymakers need macro-level real-time information on the status of different farming activities. Financial institutions seek information for deciding the insurance and credit products.

A unified digital solution supported by digital public infrastructure for agriculture needs to be implemented. These solutions should include technological advances in big data analytics, digital mobile tools for crop production and protection, and advisories for climate-smart agriculture. Other imperatives are information and communication technologies which can help innovative extension services and agri-market access reach farmers, farmer producer organisations, extension workers, and NGOs. Development of tools for carbon farming, fintech products, farmer profiling, business models, data privacy and ethics are issues to be addressed from the investment and policy perspectives for digital agriculture.

The development of DA needs to be supported by providing funds for infrastructure and seed support to startups, easing regulatory compliances, and investing in capacity-building programmes. Policy initiatives are required to increase investments in new areas such as carbon credits and to address ethics related to digital data, with the government playing a key enabler's role in the digital ecosystem. Regulators should develop guidelines for deploying digital tools in agriculture.

A common platform for all agricultural activities, such as an AgriStack, would benefit all stakeholders. Inclusion of DPI will provide farmer-centric solutions through relevant information services on soils and crops, improved access to farm inputs, credit and insurance services that will help in market intelligence and support for growth of the agri-tech industry in the country. Collaboration among technology platforms and research organisations such as the International Crops Research Institute for the Semi-Arid Tropics, Indian Council for Agricultural Research Institutes, and Indian Institutes of Technology, etc., is necessary to develop digital tools for Indian agriculture.

Digital agriculture in India will not only benefit farmers but also contribute to the country's economic growth. Its success will depend on access and affordability of technologies, ease of operations, maintenance of systems, and supportive government policies. That's asking for a lot. But it has the potential to transform India's agriculture and quest for sustainable growth.

Historic vote

Ref: Historic 214-0 RS women's bill vote (Sept 22). The unanimous support for the landmark Women's Reservation Bill in both the houses of parliament is a historic moment for the Indian democracy. Women have come up as leaders and even outperform men in many fields but are still scarcely involved in lawmaking.The only concern which needs to be dealt with is how soon it will be implemented.

Mend ties

Ref: India and Canada must stop retaliations, return to the table (Sept 22). The edit has rightly stated, "The diplomatic showdown between India and Canada is threatening to spiral out of control." Trudeau seems to be under the influence of some mercenaries who have been indulging in such mudslinging against India for a long time. Both countries should iron out differences and work together diplomatically, not only to strengthen mutual trust but also respect each other's territorial sovereignty.

H S Gopalakrishnacharya, Bengaluru

Bilateral immaturity

The India-Canada relationship seems to be worsening by the day, with the root cause being Canada's tacit support to Khalistani militants. Trudeau could have handled the present situation more tactfully, though he claims that mutual discussions were going on for three months. The fact remains that neither did Trudeau show maturity nor did India in reacting to Trudeau's accusation.

Capt Raju Mathai, Kochi

CPM's frustration

Ref: CPM's absence from INDIA bloc would be a historic blunder (Sept 21). CPM perhaps feels that Indian soil is not suitable to grow communism. The politburo's resolution that it would not share power if the INDIA bloc wins in the 2024 election reflects its frustration of being unable to put down roots in the country.

G Purushothaman, Tirunelveli

Correct decision

The editorial's advice to CPM to join INDIA was not right. The only common factors uniting the opposition are lust for power, corruption and a desire to unseat Modi. CPM took the right decision.

FinMin's logic

Low household savings are due to high consumer spending, says our finance minister. She must note that low savings are because of inflation and high costs of living. Please see the rates of essential commodities. After spending on essentials, what's left for the middle class to save?

PM's remarks significant as BJP prepares for '24 Lok Sabha and assembly polls in some states

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi made a compelling case on Friday for securing a full majority, emphasising its importance in making decisive decisions, especially in light of the recent passage of the Women's Reservation Bill in the Upper House of Parliament for Lok Sabha and state assembly elections. His remarks were particularly relevant as the nation prepares for the upcoming general election, slated for April 2024, and assembly elections in various states.

PM Modi underscored that a government with a full majority, as the BJP-led government currently enjoys at the Centre, is essential for ensuring the welfare of women and the nation as a whole. He stressed that such a government is crucial for facilitating the passage of important bills in Parliament.

Describing the Women's Reservation Bill as a significant step toward fulfilling India's democratic commitment, PM Modi asserted that a full majority government is imperative for advancing the country's development agenda.

Taking a dig at previous governments, he pointed out that discussions about reserving seats for women in the Lok Sabha and state assemblies had been ongoing for nearly three decades without any concrete action due to a lack of commitment.

He expressed gratitude for the opportunity to pass the Women's Reservation Bill, emphasising that it became possible because the people had elected a strong, stable, and decisive government with a full majority. He referred to this as a realisation of "Modi's guarantee" and highlighted that the BJP had included the Women's Reservation Bill in its 2019 general election manifesto.

Earlier, upon his arrival at the BJP party headquarters, PM Modi received a warm welcome from the party's women leaders and workers. The atmosphere was festive, with thousands of women workers, leaders including women ministers, and the party's national president celebrating the passage of the Bill. PM Modi, reaffirming his commitment to women's empowerment, shared the stage with two women union ministers, Smriti Irani and Nirmala Sitharaman, along with other women leaders.

Addressing the gathering, Modi credited the full majority given by women and the public's support to the BJP in the 2019 Lok Sabha election for strengthening the government's ability to make such significant decisions. He stressed the importance of a majority in enabling decisive actions for the country and women's welfare.

The Prime Minister also took a swipe at the Opposition, which had objected to the use of the word 'Vandan' (respect) in the Bill's title. Modi stated that when the BJP prioritises respect and dignity for women, some individuals in politics become uncomfortable.

The Prime Minister also assured the audience that the 'Nari Shakti Vandan Act' had become a reality due to a strong and decisive government with an absolute majority.

Rahul regrets UPA bill didn't provide for OBC quota in '10

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

Congress leaders Rahul Gandhi, Jairam Ramesh and KC Venugopal address a press conference at AICC headquarters in New Delhi on Friday | PTI

A DAY after the passage of the Women's Reservation Bill in Parliament, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Friday said he regrets that the United Progressive Alliance (UPA) government did not provide a separate OBC quota for women when it brought the Bill in 2010.

Addressing a press meet in New Delhi, the former Congress president urged the Modi government to implement the Bill immediately and said that his party would conduct a caste census if it comes to power.

Gandhi said that though his party supported the Women's Reservation Bill, it came with riders — it would be implemented only after the caste census and the delimitation process were completed.

"It may take 10 years or more. I am not sure if it will be implemented even after then," he said, adding that it is a diversionary tactic to divert attention from the caste census.

"The truth is that the reservation can be implemented today. It is not a complicated matter. But the government doesn't want to do that," he added.

When asked if he regretted that the UPA government could not pass the Women's Reservation Bill as it did not have a separate quota for OBC women, Gandhi said, "We regret that decision 100%... We should have done then and we definitely will. We also did the caste census, we did not release it at that time due to some reasons, but it should be released now."

Though the Manmohan Singh-led government passed the Women's Reservation Bill in the Rajya Sabha in 2010, it could not pass it in the Lok Sabha as it was vehemently opposed by parties like the Samajwadi Party and Rashtriya Janata Dal in want of a 'quota within quota' for OBC women.

Gandhi said that while there is no official data available on the exact percentage of the OBCs in the country, it is said to be about 50 per cent. But, he added, their representation in the decision-making was negligible. Of the 90 top officials at the secretary level, there were just three OBC officers who control only 5 per cent of the Union budget, he said.

"As the Prime Minister keeps saying he is an OBC leader, I want him to explain why only three OBCs are in the Government of India. And why is the OBC community, which is the backbone of this country, responsible for only 5 per cent of the budget?" Gandhi said.

The BJP delays the caste census since it does not want to empower OBCs proportionate to the population, he said.

Quad FMs' meet calls for free & open Indo-Pacific, reaffirms UN principles

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

EAM S Jaishankar with US Secretary of State Antony Blinken, Australian Foreign Minister Penny Wong and Japanese Foreign Minister Yoko Kamikawa | EXPRESS

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister Dr S Jaishankar hit the ground running with the Quad meeting shortly after landing in New York on Friday morning. He was in the city to participate in the UNGA session.

"Had a warm discussion with Quad colleagues to start my 78th UNGA participation. Welcomed Japanese Foreign Minister Yoko Kamikawa. We discussed defending the rules-based international order in the Indo-Pacific and delivering on Quad commitments. We always value our collective contribution to doing global good,'' Jaishankar posted on X.

A 14-point joint statement was issued after the meeting, which spoke about the Black Sea Grain initiative, Ukraine, North Korea, Myanmar, and countering terrorism.

The meeting was also attended by US Secretary of State Anthony Blinken and Australian foreign minister Penny Wong.

The four leaders met for the first time after the diplomatic downgrade of ties between India and Canada.

"It was good to join my fellow Quad foreign ministers from India, Australia and Japan on the sidelines of UNGA. The Quad is vital to our shared vision for a free and open Indo-Pacific, and together we reaffirmed our commitment to uphold the purposes and principles of the UN Charter," said Blinken after the meeting.

The joint statement made by the four ministers reaffirmed their support for the UN, the enduring importance of upholding mutually determined rules, norms and standards, and to deepen Quad cooperation in the international system.

The conversations also included Ukraine, North Korea and Myanmar. "We express our deep concern over the war raging in Ukraine and mourn its terrible and tragic humanitarian consequences. We underscore the need for a comprehensive, just, and lasting peace in Ukraine in accordance with international law, consistent with the principles of the UN Charter. We are deeply concerned about the global food security situation and support the efforts of the UN in the resumption of the Black Sea Grain Initiative. In the context of this war, we concur that the use, or threat of use, of nuclear weapons would be unacceptable," the joint statement read.

The ministers also condemned North Korea's launching of ballistic missile technology and its continued pursuit of nuclear weapons in violation of multiple UN Security Council Resolutions.

On Myanmar, the ministers expressed concern over the political and humanitarian crisis and called for immediate cessation of violence.

Plea on EVM source code audit, placing it in public domain dismissed by SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday dismissed a petition seeking audit of the source code of all Electronic Voting Machines (EVM) and placing the report in public domain.

Calling the issue "sensitive", a bench comprising Chief Justice DY Chandrachud and Justices JB Pardiwala and Manoj Mishra maintained that if the source code or hash code signature of EVMs are placed in the public domain, it could be misused by unscrupulous elements.

"The Election Commission of India (ECI) is entrusted with control over elections. Presently, the petitioner places no actionable material before this court to show that the Election Commission has acted in breach of its constitutional mandate. Placing the source code audit in the public domain intervenes with policy issues and we are not inclined to interfere in this. There is no material to show that Election Commission is not fulfilling its mandate. Thus, we do not interfere in this petition," the court said in its order.

The order came while the bench was considering a plea filed by one Sunil Ahya, wherein it was contended that there was no formal audit report of the source code available in the public domain.

Calling such audit mandatory for survival of democracy, Ahya submitted before the bench that source code was like the brain of the EVMs.

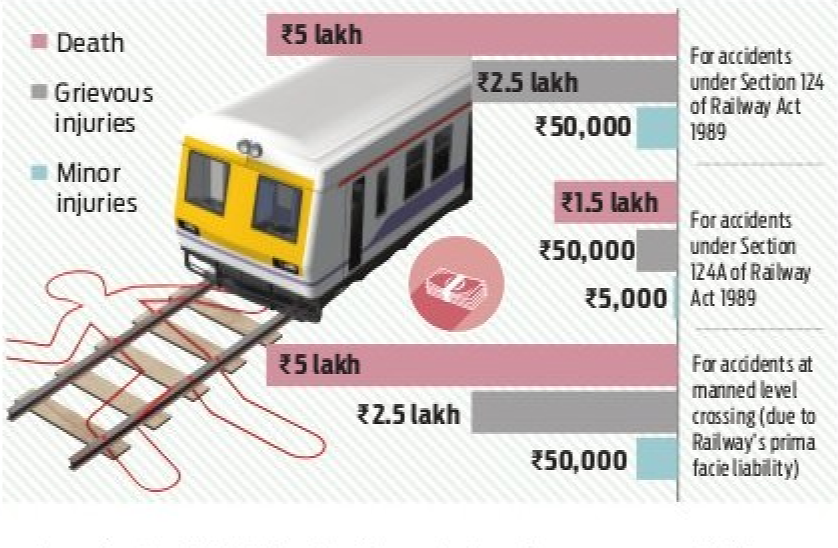
Revised compensation for railway accident victims

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

NEW EX GRATIA AMOUNT



The Ministry of Railways has revised the ex gratia relief amounts for victims of rail accidents or their dependents.

According to an official statement issued on Friday, the Railways will pay ₹5 lakh to the dependents of persons who die in railway accidents as defined under Section 124 of the Railway Act 1989 and ₹2.5 lakh to those injured grievously in accidents falling under the category. For simple injuries, this is ₹50,000.

The ex gratia amount paid for dependents of deceased in accidents defined under Section 124A of the Railway Act 1989 would be ₹1.5 lakh. For those grievously injured in accidents under this category, ₹50,000 will be paid and for simple injuries, it is fixed at ₹5,000.

"However, an ex gratia of ₹5 lakh will be paid to the dependents of victims of accidents occurred at manned railway crossings due to the Railway's prime facie liability. In the same way, an ex gratia of ₹2.5 lakh would be paid for grievous injuries and ₹50,000 for simple injuries sustained in accidents at manned railway level crossings," said a railway official.

The Railways has also revised the provision for additional ex gratia for grievously injured passengers if they are hospitalised beyond 30 days. "In case of a train accident, additional ex gratia of ₹3,000 per day will be released at the end of every 10-day period or date of discharge, whichever is earlier. In case of untoward incidents, additional ex gratia of ₹1,500 per day will be paid at the end of every 10-day period or date of discharge, whichever is earlier, up to further six months of hospitalisation,'' Railways said in its notification. It added that the maximum period for which ex gratia is payable to grievously injured passengers will be 12 months.

The ministry has clarified that the ex gratia will be exclusively for passengers who are grievously injured in train accidents or untoward incidents as defined under Section 123, read with Section 124/124A of the Railways Act, 1989.

It further said that a maximum of ₹50,000 will be paid in cash as immediate relief. The remaining amount would be paid to the accounts of injured passengers or victims' dependents.

"No ex gratia relief would be admissible to road users for accidents at unmanned level crossings, trespassers and persons electrocuted by overhead equipment," Railways said.

Sports minister to skip Asiad over accreditation of Arunachal girls

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

Sports minister Anurag Thakur

THE Asian Games, one of the biggest multi-event meets in the world in terms of athlete representation, is set to open on Saturday. The Indian contingent reached Hangzhou in batches and is set to be part of what is expected to be one of the most competitive and largest Games. However, China's refusal to grant accreditation to three Arunachal Pradesh athletes has forced the sports minister to drop his Games visit in protest.

Anurag Thakur decided not to attend the 19th Asian Games. He was earlier scheduled to participate in the Opening Ceremony of the event.

"Government of India reserves the right to take suitable measures to safeguard our interests as some sportspersons were denied entry into the Games,'' said Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Arindam Bagchi.

The three women wushu players from Arunachal Pradesh are Nyeman Wangsu, Onilu Tega and Mepung Lamgu. Earlier, India had pulled out of the World University Games in Chengdu in retaliation to stapled visas.

The Indian government said that the Chinese authorities have, in a targeted and premeditated manner, discriminated against some of the Indian sportspersons from Arunachal Pradesh by denying them accreditation. A strong protest has been lodged in New Delhi and Beijing against China's deliberate and selective obstruction of some of our sportspersons. "China's action violates both the spirit of the Asian Games and the rules governing their conduct, which explicitly prohibits discrimination against competitors from member states."

For their part, China's foreign ministry spokesperson reiterated that they have never considered Arunachal Pradesh as part of India.

'Sort out issues with Canada soon'

Punjab politicians slam Trudeau's remarks, ask Centre to find solution to diplomatic row

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

AMID the ongoing face-off between India and Canada, Punjab politicians across party lines have slammed Canada's Prime Minister Justin Trudeau for his remarks targeting India, but at the same time, asked the Union government to resolve the matter keeping in mind the Indian students who go to Canada on a study visa.

Most of these students are from Punjab. Besides, there are thousands of Punjabis who have taken up Canadian citizenship.

Vikramjit Singh Sahney, AAP's Rajya Sabha MP from Punjab, said he believed dialogue was the only way forward for every diplomatic problem.

Sahney expressed deep concern over Trudeau's claims targeting the Indian government over the killing of a Khalistani terrorist. "Instead of issuing a public statement and sending back a senior Indian diplomat, Trudeau should have initiated a dialogue with India on his doubts about India's alleged interference on Canadian soil," he said.

However, Sahney said shutting down visa issuance was not a prudent step. "There are thousands of Punjabis living in Canada; one wrong step and they will have to face the collateral damage. A vast majority of Canadian Sikhs are pro-India and cannot be blamed for acts of a handful of fundamentalists," he said.

Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) chief Sukhbir Singh Badal appealed to home minister Amit Shah to take necessary steps to ensure a quick resolution of the dispute with Canada. "Punjabis are in a state of panic due to deteriorating relations between the two countries," he said and made a similar appeal to the Canadian government. "There is a sense of panic and both governments should quickly find a solution to the crisis," he said.

Badal also expressed deep concern over the suspension of visa services for Canadian nationals to India, saying it affected lakhs of Punjabis living overseas, including nationals of Indian origin as well as students. "This is set to create hurdles, uncertainty, and anxiety for Punjabis," he said.

Punjab Congress president Amarinder Singh Raja Warring said the decision to suspend visa services will badly impact Punjabis who have now taken Canadian citizenship. "A large number of Indian-origin Canadians have families back home. There are elderly parents and siblings whom they visit during the festival season. I appeal to the Ministry of External Affairs to resolve the issue at the earliest,'' he said.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Guwahati

Violence broke in the state on May 3

A special court in Manipur on Friday granted bail to the five youths who were arrested by police for possessing weapons, amid an agitation for their release. Their arrests had triggered fresh tension in the ethnic violence-hit state.

The court granted them bail after they had furnished a PR bond of ₹50,000 with one surety of the like amount.

In its order, the court said the five accused shall co-operate with the investigation, make themselves available before the investigating authorities and not influence prosecution witnesses or leave the state without its prior permission and appear before the investigating officer every 15 days.

The court said, "So far, there is no material evidence to show that the accused persons have committed terrorist acts, which can be punished under Section 16 of the UA(P) Act, except mentioning of the accused No. 1 being the member of a terrorist organisation. So far, none of the accused persons have committed any illegal and prejudicial acts against the State, as mentioned. They were all arrested by the police saying they entered prejudicial activities against the State."

The court also said that the investigating officer "cannot show strong prima facie case against all the accused persons for the commission of terrorist acts and prejudicial activities against the State attracting section 16 UA(P) Act and Section 121-A of the IPC as of now."

Protestors, mostly members of Meira Paibi (Meitei women torchbearers) and local clubs, had enforced a 48-hour bandh till the midnight of Wednesday demanding the release of the persons.

2nd summons to Tejashwi in defamation case

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

A metropolitan court in Ahmedabad on Friday issued summons to Bihar Deputy Chief Minister Tejashwi Yadav for the second time in a criminal defamation case after learning that the first summons could not be served to him due to some confusion.

As per the latest summons, Yadav is required to appear before the court on October 13.

On August 28, the court of Additional Metropolitan Magistrate D J Parmar had issued summons to Yadav in a criminal defamation case filed against him over his reported remarks that "only Gujaratis can be thugs (fraudsters)".

The court issued summons to the senior RJD leader to appear before it on September 22 in the case registered under Sections 499 and 500 of the IPC.

When the court began the hearing, it was revealed that the summons was still lying in the court and it was never delivered to Yadav. While the complainant Haresh Mehta (69) was under the impression that the court would hand over the summons to Yadav, the court was under the impression that Mehta's lawyer had delivered it to Yadav.

Soft Hindutva? Ganga Jal makes entry into MP politics as part of Cong plank

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhopal

Kamal Nath at a Jan Akrosh Yatra

IN another attempt to embrace 'soft Hindutva' and counter ruling BJP over a 'pro-Hindutva' pitch, Congress has now announced the distribution of bottles of holy Ganga water across the state as a mark to assure voters fulfillment of guarantees promised by state head and chief minister face Kamal Nath if elected to power in the upcoming Assembly polls.

Himanshu Yadav, the state Congress' OBC cell head of Indore Lok Sabha constituency, said Ganga water bottles will be sourced from Haridwar and distributed in the coming days. The campaign will start from the Indore district.

Importantly, ahead of by-elections to 27 assembly segments in 2020, the Congress had embarked on a similar campaign.

Titled 'Shuddh Ke Liye Yuddh' (War for Purity) the campaign was launched by the MP Congress Committee chief and ex-CM Kamal Nath, three months before the bulk assembly bypolls.

The campaign saw door-to-door distribution of half-litre bottles among voters in the 27 assembly segments, where byelections were to be held. Twenty-five of these seats had fallen vacant due to the resignation of Congress MLAs, including the 22 legislators whose resignations had led to the fall of the 15-month-old Congress government led by Kamal Nath in March 2020. The campaign was aimed at "purifying constituencies of the opportunist political nexus of the BJP and the former Congress MLAs (now in BJP)", which led to the fall of the Nath government.

Before it, during the 2018 assembly polls campaign, Digvijaya Singh-loyalist Congress candidate from Bhopal Dakshin-Paschim seat, PC Sharma had distributed Ganga Jal bottles in the constituency of the state capital Bhopal.

BJP MP'S RELIGION SLUR SPARKS OUTRAGE

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

BJP MP Ramesh Bidhuri's gutter language in the Lok Sabha against BSP's Danish Ali triggered a massive outrage on Friday with Speaker Om Birla apparently letting him off with a warning of strict action if such behaviour is repeated in future. An appalled Ali said he could consider quitting the membership of the House if no step is taken against Bidhuri.

Bidhuri had made the remarks during a discussion on the success of Chandrayaan 3 in the House on Thursday. A two-minute clipping of Parliament's proceedings that shows Bidhuri making derogatory remarks stirred up a storm on social media. The BJP lawmaker from south Delhi seat drew severe criticism from all quarters, with the Opposition INDIA bloc rallying behind Ali.

Defence minister Rajnath Singh expressed regret immediately after Bidhuri's remarks on Thursday. According to BJP leaders, the party later served him a show cause notice.

"During the course of his speech, he directed the most foul, abusive invectives against me, which are part of the record of Lok Sabha. Among words he used against me were bhadwa (pimp), katwa (circumcised), mullah ugravadi (Muslim terrorist) and atankvadi (terrorist) etc," Ali wrote to the Speaker and requested that the matter be referred to the privileges committee.

In a 1st, elephant census with DNA profiling to be shared with Centre

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

FOR the first time in the country, a census exercise of elephants has been carried out with the help of DNA samples. The Wildlife Institute of India has completed this census in all the sanctuaries of the country with the help of DNA samples taken from elephant dung while camera traps were used to help with the calculation.

The census report has been sent to the Central government and is expected to soon be released by the Union ministry of forest and environment.

Speaking at the 34th annual two-day research workshop at the Wildlife Institute of India, its director Virendra Tiwari said that they were constantly working for the conservation of elephants.

"For the first time, DNA-based calculations have also matched the results of DNA profiling with cameras installed in the reserve forest to make accurate calculations," said Tiwari.

"The DNA profile will help gather a lot of information about elephants as well as know and preserve their behaviour," Tiwari added.

DNA profiling from elephant dung will now be analysed for research. "The DNA profiling is expected to help identify elephant corridors and reduce human-elephant conflict," Tiwari said, adding, "There are around 1,000 elephants near temples and institutions in several states, including Assam and Kerala. This will go a long way in preventing smuggling of elephants".

Mirwaiz terms Kashmir as a human problem

TERMING Kashmir as a human problem and not a territorial tug of war, the Mirwaiz said, "We in Hurriyat believe that a part of J&K is in India, a part with Pakistan and some part with China. All these comprise J&K as it existed in August 1947. Its people are divided by an artificial line. This issue has to be addressed through dialogue."

On Prime Minister Narendra Modi's statement that 'today's era must not be of war,' in the context of the Ukraine invasion, he said it applies to Kashmir too. Police guard deployed outside his residence was withdrawn and he was allowed to move out. A senior police officer visited his residence on Thursday and informed him that restrictions on his movement have been lifted.

The Mirwaiz was under house arrest since August 4, 2019, a day before the Centre abrogated J&K's special status, withdrew its statehood and reduced it to two Union Territories.

As he left his home and reached Jamia Masjid, a large number of people welcomed him with slogans of "Sher Aaya, Mirwaiz Aaya (lion Mirwaiz has come), making him emotional. He broke down on reaching the pulpit. "These four years were the worst period of my life after my father's death. Being here is a very emotional moment for me," he said.

United Nations demands Iran to drop 'demeaning' new hijab law

CHASTITY & HIJAB BILL

The UN rights office said it deeply regretted the passage of the so-called Chastity and Hijab Bill, which threatens Iranian women who flout the strict Islamic dress code mandating head coverings and modest clothing with up to 10 years behind bars

3-YR TRIAL PERIOD

Iran's legislature approved decree, which is fully named the "Bill to Support the Family by Promoting the Culture of Chastity and Hijab" for a trial period of three years," IRNA reported

PRISON AND FINE

The law "vastly increases jail terms and provides for crushing fines on women and girls who do not obey the compulsory dress code," spokeswoman Ravina Shamdasani said

UN rights chief "Volker Turk reiterates that this draconian bill flagrantly flies in the face of international law, and that it must be shelved," Shamdasani said

In addition to long jail sentences and heavy fines, those found in breach could under the same bill be flogged and face travel restrictions

> The bill is unfortunately worse than what we had before. Unfortunately, we haven't seen much progress in spite of the outpouring of outrage following the killing of Mahsa Amini

Ukrainian missiles strike Russia's Black Sea Fleet HQ

Kremlin says five missiles were shot down by air defense systems

KYIV

UKRAINE struck the headquarters of Russia's Black Sea Fleet in a missile attack on Friday that left a serviceman missing and the main building smoldering, as per military officials on both sides of the war.

The Russian Defence Ministry initially said one servicemember was killed but then issued a subsequent statement saying he was missing following the attack in Sevastopol.

The Russian-installed governor of Sevastopol, Mikhail Razvozhayev, said no one was injured on Friday outside of the burning headquarters building, but he didn't provide information on other casualties. Firefighters battled the blaze, and more emergency forces were being brought in, an indication the fire could be massive.

The Russian Defence Ministry said five missiles were shot down by Russian air defense systems responding to the attack on Sevastopol. It was not immediately clear if the headquarters was hit in a direct strike or by debris from an intercepted missile.

The Ukrainian military in a post claimed responsibility for the attack, which it claimed was a success.

"Around 12.00 (0900 GMT), Ukraine's Defence Forces launched a successful attack on the headquarters of the command of the Black Sea Fleet of Russia in the temporarily occupied Sevastopol," the Ukrainian army's communication department said on Telegram. "We promised that 'there will be more,'" Lt. Gen. Mykola Oleschuk, the air force commander, said in a social media post that thanked pilots and showed video of smoke rising from the building.

Sevastopol residents said they heard explosions and saw smoke, Russian news outlets reported, and images showed gray plumes over the seafront.

The attack came a day after Russia pounded cities across Ukraine with missiles and artillery strikes, killing at least five persons as President Volodymyr Zelenskyy met with US President Joe Biden and congressional leaders in Washington with an additional $24 billion aid package under consideration. Agencies

Zelenskyy in Canada to drum up support

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy urged Canada to stay with his country to victory. "I have a lot of warm words and thanks from Ukraine to you," he said. "You have helped us on the battlefield, financially and with humanitarian aid ... Stay with us to our victory."

Israel issues N-threat to Iran, later retracts

UNITED NATIONS

ISRAELI PM Benjamin Netanyahu on Friday warned Iran at the United Nations of a "nuclear threat" in what his office quickly walked back as a slip of the tongue. The hawkish prime minister said that alarm over Tehran's clerical leaders was driving Israel closer to the Arab world, with his government on the "cusp" of a historic breakthrough with Saudi Arabia.

Netanyahu, who has repeatedly used the UN stage to issue dark warnings about Tehran, briefly gave pause at the General Assembly when he appeared to threaten nuclear attack if Tehran pursues its own atomic bomb.

"Above all—above all—Iran must face a credible nuclear threat. As long as I'm prime minister of Israel, I will do everything in my power to prevent Iran from getting nuclear weapons," Netanyahu said.

His office soon afterward said that Netanyahu had misspoken and that his prepared text said "credible military threat" instead of "credible nuclear threat."

"It was misread as credible nuclear threat. The prime minister stands by the original text of the speech," the prime minister's office said. Israel has a widely known but undeclared nuclear program. As of January, Israel was believed to possess a stockpile of around 90 nuclear warheads, according to the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute.

Tehran denies seeking a nuclear bomb but has breached limits on uranium enrichment set in a US-brokered 2015 deal following former president Donald Trump's withdrawal from the agreement and reimposition of sweeping sanctions.

Richard Gowan, who follows the United Nations for the International Crisis Group, said it was not uncommon for leaders to misread speeches. AFP

VIVEK CALLS FOR FINANCIAL FREEDOM FROM CHINA

WASHINGTON

INDIAN-American Republican presidential aspirant Vivek Ramaswamy has called for declaring "economic independence" from China, for which he proposed a slew of measures including an expanded relationship with countries like India. Ramaswamy also underlined the need to move away from Chinese-controlled pharmaceutical supply chains and increase military spending.

"I will not sell you a fake vision of onshoring everything immediately. That's not going to happen if we are serious about decoupling from China. It will also require expanded relationships with India, Israel and Brazil," said Ramaswamy.

Ramaswamy said if he is elected president of the country in November 2024, his policy of declaring independence from China will have four elements. This includes declaring "independence from the climate change agenda. He said that he would also achieve economic independence from Taiwan by increasing production of US semiconductors, the "little chips" that power phones, satellite systems, medical devices and other communication devices. PTI

Trudeau's rival Poilievre more preferred for PM's job, Ipsos survey finds

TORONTO

AMID the continuing diplomatic spat between India and Canada, over the killing of Khalistan leader Hardeep Singh Nijjar in Canada's Surrey, an opinion poll conducted by Ipsos on behalf of Global News showed Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's rival and Conservative Party leader Pierre Poilievre emerging as the most favoured candidate for the post of PM.

About 40% of Canadians view Poilievre as the preferred choice for PM, up from 35% last year. In contrast, only 31% back Trudeau for the job, the same as the previous year. The survey also found 60% of Canadians want Trudeau to step down before the 2025 general elections.

New Democratic Party leader Jagmeet Singh, who has backed calls for a referendum on Khalistan, has seen his support drop to 22% from 26% last year, as per the survey. Singh is still the third-most favoured leader for the top job.

The survey was conducted between September 15 and 18 among 1,500 Canadians.

Meanwhile, Canadian government sources told CBC News that Canada's allegations of India's involvement in the killing of Nijjar are based on both human and signals intelligence and inputs from an ally from Ottawa's Five Eye intelligence network, a media report has said citing the Canadian government sources.

The Canadian government has amassed both human and signals intelligence in a months-long investigation of the Sikh man's death that has inflamed relations with India, CBC News, a division of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, reported on Thursday.

That intelligence includes communications involving Indian officials themselves, including Indian diplomats present in Canada, say Canadian government sources.

The intelligence did not come solely from Canada. Some were provided by an unnamed ally in the Five Eyes intelligence alliance, the public broadcaster said. Canada is part of a 'Five Eyes' network which is an intelligence alliance consisting of the United States, United Kingdom, Australia, Canada and New Zealand. Agencies

Chetna Maroo's debut novel shortlisted for Booker Prize '23

LONDON

LONDON-based Indian-origin author Chetna Maroo's debut novel Western Lane has been shortlisted for the 2023 Booker Prize.

Kenya-born Maroo's novel set within the context of the British Gujarati milieu has been praised by the Booker judges for its use of the sport of squash as a metaphor for complex human emotions. It revolves around the story of an 11-year-old girl named Gopi and her bonds with her family.

"Chetna Maroo's deeply evocative debut of a family grappling with grief conveyed through crystalline language which reverberates like the sound of a ball hit clean and hard with a close echo. It is stunning and it stays with you," said Canadian novelist Esi Edugyan, the chair of the Booker Prize 2023 judging panel.

The judges chose the final six novels from 13 longlisted titles—the so-called 'Booker dozen'—which were selected from 163 books published between October last year and September this year and submitted to the prize by publishers. All the shortlisted authors receive 2,500 pounds. PTI

AKSHATA MURTY GIVES A SNEAK PEAK OF CAT & DOG FIGHTS AT DOWNING STREET

Larry the cat (R) and Akshata Murty with her family dog Nova (L) | TWITTER

LONDON

AKSHATA Murty, the Indian wife of UK PM Rishi Sunak, on Friday shared some insights into life at 10 Downing Street as she revealed 'heated exchanges' between the family dog and the resident cat.

In a rare interview for the 'FYI: Weekly News Show' to be aired on Sky Kids channel over the weekend, the 43-year-old businesswoman told schoolchildren that she feels lucky to be living in a building associated with prime ministers for hundreds of years.

However, the family's Labrador retriever Nova may have mixed emotions about the residence as he gets challenged by the historic street's long-term resident, Larry the cat.

"I feel lucky, so grateful and so honoured to live here," said Murty, the daughter of Infosys co-founder Narayana Murthy and author Sudha Murty. "This building has been in use by the office of the Prime Minister for over 275 years, a very long time. And, to be able to live and have a sneak peek, in a way, of this historical place, I feel really lucky." She says further, "You saw our dog earlier, Nova has mixed emotions; she sometimes doesn't get on with Larry the cat and they've had some heated exchanges and Larry's come out on top; our family is so grateful to be here."

Larry, referred to as Chief Mouser to the Cabinet Office for its role in keeping mice at bay, has resided at Number 10 for 12 years and served five Conservative Prime Ministers, David Cameron, Theresa May, Boris Johnson, Liz Truss and now Rishi Sunak.

The cat's altercations with pets of the resident families on the street, which houses the Chancellor's office at Number 11, have been well documented over the years and also inspired spoof social media accounts.

SBI raises ₹10,000 crore at 7.49% coupon rate

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE BANK OF INDIA, country's largest lender, announced on Friday it has raised ₹10,000 crore via its fourth infrastructure bond issuance.

The bonds, issued at a 7.49% coupon rate, received overwhelming response from investors, with bids totaling ₹21,045.10 crore, oversubscribed the issue size of ₹4,000 crore by over five times.

The bond received 134 bids, showcasing a diverse range of investors including provident funds, pension funds, insurance companies, mutual funds, and corporate, the bank said. SBI plans to utilise the proceeds from these bonds to enhance long-term resources for funding infrastructure projects and the affordable housing segment.

The bank expressed satisfaction with the response and decided to accept ₹10,000 crore at a coupon rate of 7.49% payable annually. This rate represents a spread of 12 basis points (bps) over the corresponding Financial Benchmarks India (FBIL) G-Sec par curve, as stated in the bank's official statement.

"Based on the response, SBI has decided to accept ₹10,000 crore at a coupon rate of 7.49% payable annually. This represents spread of 12 bps over the corresponding FBIL G-Sec par curve," the statement said.

Earlier, on August 1, 2023, the bank had raised long-term bonds of ₹10,000 crore at a spread of 13 bps over the corresponding FBIL G-Sec par curve. The bank holds AAA credit rating with a stable outlook from all domestic credit rating agencies for these instruments. With the latest issuance, the bank's total outstanding long-term bonds now stand at ₹39,718 crore.

"This issuance is very significant as the bank has been successful in raising long-duration bonds successively at a finer spread. We believe that this issuance may help in developing a long-term bond curve and encourage other banks to issue bonds of longer tenor," it said.

Laptop, PC import licensing may go

Govt hints at companies will only need to register on a portal to import these items

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE government may scrap its directive asking for a mandatory licence to import laptops, all-in-one personal computers, and tablets.

According to industry sources, during a meeting with industry stakeholders, the government said companies will only need to register on a portal to import these items. The government has also hinted at providing a one-year grace period for importing these items.

Industry players have been informed that the "import management system" portal, which will be managed by Directorate General of Foreign Trade(DGFT), will go live by the end of this month.

"We raised concerns about the sudden import ban on these items. However, the government indicated that it may extend the deadline by another year. Now, we don't need to seek any licences but only need to register. During this period, companies can import as much quantity as they want," said a source.

On August 4, the government suddenly announced the ban on laptops, all-in-one personal computers, and tablets. Later in the day, it clarified that there was no ban, but electronic manufacturing companies needed a licence to import these items starting from November 1, 2023. Subsequently, the Minister of State, Rajeev Chandrasekhar, clarified that it was not licencing but an import management system, with the purpose of ensuring that equipment, servers, and laptops entering the digital India ecosystem originate from trusted sources.

Today, while announcing the groundbreaking ceremony for Micron Technology's semiconductor testing and assembly plant in Gujarat's Sanand, the minister acknowledged the communication gap.

"I accept that there was a communication gap; it was never meant to be a licencing requirement. Today, we are meeting with industry representatives and sharing a draft of the import management system. Its aim is to address the high dependency on sources that are not verified and trusted," said Rajeev Chandrasekhar. He further emphasised that currently, 80% of our devices come from imports, and the goal is to ensure that these sources are trusted.

"As we expand the internet and develop the Indian cloud, as we establish more data centers, and as the servers that go into them and the laptops that operate on the cloud should be sourced from trusted providers," said the minister.

WHAT'S ON THE CARDS ?

1. AS PER SOURCES, COMPANIES WILL ONLY NEED TO REGISTER ON A PORTAL TO IMPORT LAPTOPS, PERSONAL COMPUTERS AND TABLETS
2. GOVT HAS HINTED AT PROVIDING ONE-YEAR GRACE PERIOD TO INDUSTRY PLAYERS FOR IMPORTING THESE ITEMS
3. IMPORT MANAGEMENT SYSTEM PORTAL, TO BE MANAGED BY DIRECTORATE GENERAL OF FOREIGN TRADE (DGFT), WILL GO LIVE BY THE END OF THIS MONTH, AS PER INDUSTRY PLAYERS
4. ON AUGUST 4, THE GOVT ANNOUNCED BAN ON LAPTOPS, PERSONAL COMPUTERS, AND TABLETS
5. IT LATER CLARIFIED THAT THERE WAS NO BAN, BUT ELECTRONIC MANUFACTURING COMPANIES NEEDED A LICENCE TO IMPORT THESE ITEMS STARTING NOV 1

> We raised concerns about the import ban on these items. the government indicated it may extend the deadline by A year. Now, we don't need to seek any licences but only need to register — SOURCE

'Digital infra helped govt save $27 billion'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ECONOMIC Affairs Secretary Ajay Seth on Friday said digital public infrastructure (DPI) has led to savings of over $27 billion in government schemes.

In the last one decade, the use of direct benefit transfer (DBT) has ensured money reached to targeted beneficiaries and bogus accounts are weeded out. This has helped in savings of taxpayers' money, he said. Sharing the country's success story in financial inclusion, Seth said India has achieved 80% account opening penetration from 20% within a span of seven-eight years with DPI, which would have taken 47 years in the normal course as per a study by the Bank of International Settlements. Out of this, 56% of bank account holders are women, and 67% of accounts are in rural and semi-urban areas, he said at a seminar titled 'Digital Public Infrastructure- Enabler for Advancing Financial Inclusion and Productivity Gains'. "The average balance in these accounts is over ₹4,000. Our digital payment systems' UPI crossed 10 billion only in the month of August alone. Today, over 5.5 crore Jan Dhan accounts are receiving direct benefit transfers," he said.

CENTRAL BANK DOWNGRADES GDP GROWTH FORECAST TO 1.46% FOR 2023 ON WEAKENING DEMAND

Taiwan's central bank has said it has downgraded the country's gross domestic product (GDP) growth forecast to 1.46% for 2023, citing the impact of weakening global demand. The central bank lowered Taiwan's growth forecast to 1.72% from an earlier estimate of 2.21%, reflecting the country's weaker-than-expected export performance. Taiwan's economy would grow 1.61 percent in 2023, a cut from the estimate of 2.04% made in May, the Directorate General of Budget, Accounting and Statistics (DGBAS) had forecasted in August. After the central bank concluded its quarterly policymaking meeting, Governor Yang Chin-long said he expected growth momentum to improve in the fourth quarter and to pick up next year. Yang said growing emerging technologies are expected to create business opportunities and offset the current fragile global demand, which will push up Taiwan's exports in information communications gadgets.

JAPAN

CPI INFLATION GROWS MORE THAN EXPECTED IN AUGUST

The consumer inflation in Japan grew above expectations in August, data showed on Friday. National core consumer price index inflation, which excludes volatile fresh food prices, increased 3.1% in August, the country's Statistics Bureau data showed. The reading was above forecasts of 3%, and remained steady from the prior month's reading of 3.1%. Including fresh food prices, national CPI inflation grew 3.2% in August. It rose to 3.3% in July. The pace of monthly growth also slowed to 0.3% in August from 0.5% in July. Steady spending on food and consumer goods was the biggest contributor to inflation through the month. Headline CPI inflation remained well above the BOJ's 2% annual target for the seventeenth consecutive month, drumming up speculation that the bank was close to signaling a potential end to its ultra-low interest rate regime.

MALAYSIA

INFLATION RATE UNCHANGED AT 2% IN AUGUST 2023

Inflation in Malaysia remained unchanged at 2% in August 2023, same as recorded in July, according to the Department of Statistics Malaysia (DoSM). The rate of inflation recorded in the month of August was mainly on account of the slower growth in restaurants and hotels, which declined to 4.7% from 5% in July 2023; food and non-alcoholic beverages (4.1% as compared to 4.4% in July), as well as miscellaneous goods and services, which moderated to 2.4% from 2.6% in the previous month. Food and non-alcoholic beverages group contributes 29.5% of total consumer price index (CPI) weight. The inflation rate for transport sector in August 2023 didn't see any increase as compared to -0.4% in the month of July. Core inflation moderated to 2.5% in the month of August 2023 as compared to 2.8% in July 2023, however, core inflation still surpassed the overall national inflation rate of 2%.

Goa-based casino operator Delta Corp receives GST demand of ₹11,139 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN another setback for Delta Corp, the Goa-based casino operator on Friday said that it has received an intimation from the Directorate General (DG) of Goods and Services tax (GST) Intelligence, Hyderabad, to pay an alleged tax liability of ₹11,139 crore.

The DG notice noted that failing to pay the amount will result in a show cause notice being issued to the company. According to the comany, it will pursue all legal remedies available to it to challenge such tax demands and related proceedings.

"The DG notice advises the company to pay an alleged tax liability of ₹1,11,39,61,03,423 (rupees eleven thousand one hundred and thirty nine crore sixty one lakh three thousand four hundred and twenty three) along with interest and penalty for the period from July 2017 to March 2022, failing which a show cause notice will be issued to the company under Section 74(1) of the CGST Act, 2017, and Goa SGST Act, 2017," Delta Corp said in a regulatory filing.

The amount claimed in the DG notice is inter-alia based on the gross bet value of all games played at the casinos during the relevant period. Demand of goods and services tax on gross bet value, rather than gross gaming revenue, has been an industry issue and various representations have already been made to the government at an industry level in relation to this issue. Delta said the company has been legally advised that the notice and the tax demand is arbitrary and contrary to law.

This notice is another major setback for Delta Corp, after the GST Council, in July 2023, decided to impose a 28% tax on online gaming, casinos and horse racing.

SpiceJet can pay Credit Suisse in instalments

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a major relief for SpiceJet and promoter Ajay Singh, the Supreme Court (SC) on Friday allowed the low-cost airline to make payments to Credit Suisse of $1 million per month for a duration of six months to clear its dues and arrears.

Following the completion of the six-month period, Singh and SpiceJet are required to pay regular instalments of $500,000 to Credit Suisse.

"The Supreme Court has acknowledged our compliance with its previous orders and concurred with our proposal to settle the $3 million arrears over the forthcoming six months. This represents a positive outcome for the company and our stakeholders, and we extend our gratitude to the Court for its understanding," said SpiceJet in a statement.

The fresh order comes after SpiceJet had transferred $1.5 million to Credit Suisse last week following a strict warning by the top court. Earlier this month, the SC had warned Singh of severe consequences, including jail time in Tihar, if he fails to respect the order related to clearing its due to the Swiss lender.

The legal dispute between the two pastries started when Credit Suisse dragged SpiceJet to the Madras High Court in 2021 after the airline failed to make payments of over $24 million to maintenance, repair and overhauling (MRO) service provider SR Technics. Credit Suisse had a financing agreement with SR Technics that gave it the right to receive payments from the airline.

In December 2021, the Madras High Court ordered the liquidation of SpiceJet after the airline failed to clear the debt owed to Credit Suisse. Then the matter was transferred to the top court.

Revival can delay by demands of lessors': Go First

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Resolution Professional of Go First has said its revival plan can be delayed if the court agrees to demands of aircraft lessors, who have been seeking certain records after aircraft parts went missing.

Three lessors had earlier moved the plea before the Delhi High Court and sought additional directions on the maintenance of their assets, after getting to know that their parked aircraft were in poor condition during inspections.

Dubai Aerospace Enterprise (DAE) Capital and ACG Aircraft Leasing have complained that some parts had been allegedly robbed or the jets were corroding.

Delhi High Court in July had permitted the lessors to inspect the grounded planes.

Real GDP to grow at 6.5% in FY24: Finance Ministry

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Indian economy remains resilient in the face of rising global crude oil prices, finance ministry said in a monthly economic review for August.

Despite a few risks to the economic outlook including the monsoon deficit, which could impact both Kharif and Rabi crops, and the possibility of a slump in stock market due to an overdue global recession, the economic outlook remains positive, with a baseline estimate of 6.5% real GDP growth for the financial year 2023-24 (FY24), the report said.

While acknowledging concerns over the oil price hike, the ministry stated that there is no need for alarm bells yet. Additionally, the review noted that certain food items that had previously contributed to inflation, such as Tur Dal, will see relief once imports enter the market. The review pointed to encouraging signs of economic activity, citing high-frequency indicators like record e-way bill generation and electronic toll collections. It also highlighted a 4.2% increase in capital goods imports, suggesting that higher public capital spending is stimulating private investment.

The ministry emphasised the good health of the private sector, supported by data on advance tax payments for the second quarter, indicating increased business investments. It also noted that while risks such as a potential stock market correction and geopolitical developments could impact investment sentiment, the overall effect on India's economic activity should be relatively contained.

Regarding monsoon and inflation, the review acknowledged the impact of the monsoon deficit on crop production but found September's rains to be heartening as they partially offset the deficit.

In the above identified flats and in some cases, it is on record that sale deeds are duly registered and the same are deposited by way of equitable mortgage to SBI as security by some borrowers.

It has come to the notice of SBI that, due to default of the said Developer, IDBI BANK (having LOAN CENTRE at "ASHWINI COMPLEX, NO.326, 6TH MAIN ROAD, 80 FT ROAD, INDIRANAGAR, BENGALURU-560038 stated as a Secured Creditor) is taking steps under the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002, and also stated to have published a demand notice also in respect of certain flat units of the said project called: "GRANDEUR PARK".

Some of certain flat units of the said project called: "GRANDEUR PARK" are already held by borrowers of SBI as owners after registration of sale deeds executed and registered by the said developer, and hence, the same cannot be treated as charged or mortgaged to any person. Further, recent verification found some registered agreement by the said developer to a third party in respect of certain flat units of the said project called: "GRANDEUR PARK", which is in violation of the SBI's holding as financier to identified borrowers.

It is therefore suspected to be a multiple sale attempt made by the said Developer with banks and even private persons, which is being considered for further probe and legal action.

SBI therefore wish to caution the general public that, if any person claims possession or sale or otherwise deal in the aforesaid identified 62 flat units of SBI, by way of mortgage or lien marked in any manner or on any ground whatsoever, it would be treated as violation of the tri-partite agreements and other agreements of the said Developer and loan agreements of borrowers with our bank in each case, and necessary recovery action including civil and criminal proceeding will be initiated, in due course.

Public in general, or any person desires to purchase of or deal in the above mentioned identified Flat unit/s specifically secured to SBI, are hereby advised that the same will be done at his/her own discretion, by acknowledging that SBI has every right to question the same or seeking suitable legal relief for recovery in appropriate court of law or tribunal, as the case may be.

Nagelsmann named Germany coach

Julian Nagelsmann has been given nine months to revive flailing Germany ahead of hosting Euro 2024 after being named as the sacked Hansi Flick's successor as national team coach. Germany fired Flick with the national team struggling, the German football association (DFB) fearing another embarrassing performance, this time as hosts at 2024 European C'ships.

Games on!

With the 19th Asian Games set to officially begin with the Opening Ceremony on Saturday, a look at some of the talking points to keep an eye on from Indian perspective...

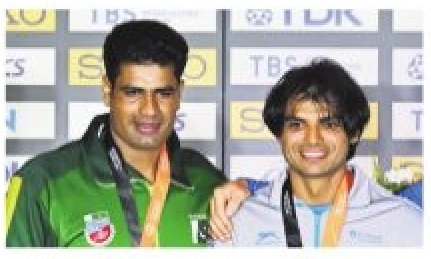
FOCUS
19th Asian Games
Hangzhou 2022

EYEING A CENTURY

If the experts are to be believed, India could touch the three-figure mark of 100 medals at Hangzhou. At Jakarta, they won 70 (16 gold) so this may probably be more hope than expectation.

The Olympic quotas

The boxing contenders and both hockey teams will have their eyes set on a bigger prize while in Hangzhou — booking their spots for Paris. The men's team are prohibitive favourites for gold and, all things being equal, should punch their ticket. The women's team will be in for a fight but it's not beyond them. In boxing, the likes of Nikhat Zareen, Lovlina Borgohain, Shiva Thapa and Deepak Bhoria know this is a great chance to secure their berths to Paris. For the men, reach the final and that job is done. For the women, in some of the categories there are four quotas up for grabs per category so the last four should be the aim.



Chopra vs Nadeem

The latest installment of this friendly rivalry may in all likelihood decide who walks away with the gold in the men's javelin. The Olympic champion, Neeraj Chopra, has been very consistent this season but Arshad Nadeem, who seems to put minimal effort in most of his throws, has already breached the 90m mark. A lot of who will come out on top in an event like javelin depends on the condition. Chopra starts as the favourite because of his sheer consistency in hurling the spear above the 85m mark but Nadeem's explosiveness could be a problem he may have to contend with.

Watch the athletics India have always done well in athletics at the continental level — one reason being the competition, or the lack thereof — and expect the contingent to win not just a lot of medals but a hatful of gold. In 2018, they won eight gold and this figure is set to go up this year as some genuine medal contenders have emerged over the last five years including the likes of Avinash Sable (men's 3000m SC) and M Sreeshankar (men's long jump). India have always tended to do well in the longer of the sprint relays and they are fresh off a national record in the men's 4x400m.

What will the wrestlers serve up?

At Jakarta, there was history as Vinesh Phogat became the first Indian woman to win gold at this level. This time, Vinesh has dropped out. But that's just the tip of the iceberg. The sport has hit stasis after grave allegations by leading wrestlers against Brij Bhushan Singh, a leading administrator. Governance issues followed large-scale protests so there is genuinely a sense of intrigue about the state of the sport in the country. For example, is it possible for the likes of Bajrang Punia to rediscover his mojo on the mat? One athlete who may well follow in the footsteps of Vinesh is Antim Panghal, who won bronze medal at the Worlds. She's ideally placed to corner glory on the mat.

Women's cricket, only gold matters

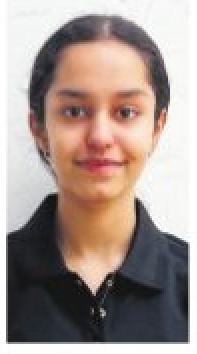
Having finished second at the 2022 Commonwealth Games, Indian women know what it feels like to miss out on gold in a multi-sport event. But this Asiad, in their first appearance, they are the favourites and would be disappointed if they do not finish at the top. That bilateral series against South Africa & New Zealand have been postponed so that they could bring glory tells the story. Should they win gold, they will become the first Indian senior team to do so in an multi-sport event (the men will play in early October).

Men's doubles

In terms of firepower, not many in the Indian contingent can match Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty. As a pair, they have wiped the floor with the field in 2023. Their next challenge is a fairly big one. Olympic medallists like Saina Nehwal and PV Sindhu have tried and failed to win gold at this level. Can Rankireddy and Shetty find the level needed? Staying with badminton, what next for Sindhu who's been on a downward spiral in 2023.

India vs China in chess For a country that had banned chess as it saw the board game as a 'decadence of the West', China are doing pretty well. In fact, one of the hottest match-ups of the Games could be China playing India in the men's team event which will be played in the Classical format.

Early optimism The men's volleyball team have already enhanced their reputation after beating South Korea and Chinese Taipei — two higher-ranked teams — en route the quarterfinals. Japan, one of the best in the continent, will be a massive obstacle but this side has already showed gumption. Elsewhere, most of the rowers have advanced to the final and it could well be one of the first medals the country will earn when the real competition begins on Sunday.



Anahat Singh & Savitha Shri

Two of the youngest members of the Indian contingent could play big roles at Hangzhou over the next two weeks. Anahat grabbed eyeballs with her maturity inside the glass cage at Birmingham and is a medal prospect in multiple events. Savitha Shri has already tasted success in chess on the world stage as she won bronze in the world rapids last year. Just 16, she's the next generation in a board game that's soared in popularity.

Focus on pistol shooters

Indian shooters are bound to face stiff competition with the hosts likely to dominate the event. The likes of Sift Kaur Samra and Mehuli Ghosh (both rifle discipline), who secured Paris Olympics quotas recently, will be looking to build on that. It is also a massive chance for pistol shooters, who are yet to win a single quota so far, to regain their confidence. Manu Bhaker, Rhythm Sangwan will be intent on making a mark.

Men's team continues good show, beat Chinese Taipei to enter QF

Indian volleyball team celebrate after beating Chinese Taipei | SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

IF their upset victory over South Korea was a nail-biting five-setter, this one was an exhibition of dominance. Technically, India's 3-0 victory over Chinese Taipei in the Asian Games Round of 16 too is an upset — the latter is ranked thirty places above the team in blue. However, a complete stranger to the sport, in attendance at the China Textile City Sports Centre Gymnasium at Hangzhou on Friday, would not have been able to guess who the superior-ranked team was.

Of course, rankings are not an accurate measure of the quality of a team like India, where the game and opportunities to play have stagnated in recent years due to factional fights within the Volleyball Federation of India. However, Chinese Taipei did still finish sixth in the Asian Men's Volleyball Championships in August, where India finished 11th out of twelve teams. It is clear that the team has come leaps and bounds thanks to training and playing together for a month. On Wednesday, India looked a class apart in certain spells, especially dominating at the net. Ashwal Rai alone successfully executed five blocks while the entire Chinese Taipei team just managed seven. The likes of Amit, Erin Varghese and Vineet Kumar, who had all excelled against Korea, continued their good form here as well.

It was Chinese Taipei who took the first point of the game and they dominated the opening exchanges of the first set. India soon found themselves down 6-10 but a flurry of points later, they had clawed the scores back to 9-10. Chinese Taipei again threatened to break away, and at 20-15, looked like they were going to take the opening set. But it was here that India displayed the character that was on show in abundance against South Korea. They fought back and restored parity at 21-21 before taking the set 25-22. A spell of ten points against the opponent's two at such a crucial point of the game is no mean feat!

The second and third set, though much more straightforward, were not without tense moments. In both sets, India raced to early leads before allowing Chinese Taipei to claw back into the game. But here too, they showed composure and maturity at just the right time and did not allow their opponents to seize the initiative. The two sets finished 25-22 and 25-21 respectively.

The character displayed by the team is something that former captain, and one of the few veterans in a young team, Mohan Ukkrapandian is happy with. "We learnt a lot from the match against South Korea and recognised that we had mistakes. We tried to rectify them in this match," he told this daily. "That helped us. The Korea game was full of ups and downs, but this one, we won in straight sets."

India will now play their quarterfinal against a formidable opponent — Japan, ranked fifth in the world. Incidentally, it was with a loss to Japan in the Round of 16 that India exited the last edition of the Asian Games. Ukkrapandian, though, says that neither he nor his younger teammates are fazed. "We are all looking forward to that game. We came here to do something and we will try to win that game as well."

OCA takes up issue with Chinese officials

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE/ AGENCIES @Chennai/Hangzhou

THE denial of accreditation to three wushu athletes from Arunachal Pradesh for the Asian Games has led to an controversy a day before the Games. Sports Minister Anurag Thakur decided to not attend the Games. The Olympic Council of Asia said that they have taken up the issue. Randhir Singh, the acting president of the OCA, has taken up the issue.

According to Singh, they had a meeting with the organising committee and are discussing with the government as well. "It is under discussion with us as well. This is outside of what the government to government is happening. We are from the OCA side of it," he said during a press conference.

However, Wei Jizhong, chairman of OCA's ethics committee, claimed the "Indian athletes have been granted the visa to enter China." "These Indian athletes have already got the visa to enter China. China didn't refuse any visa. The problem is according to Chinese govt regulations, we have the right to give them different kind of visas. We have an arrival visa, we have a paper visa, and we have a passport as visa," Jizhong said.

"Unfortunately, these athletes didn't accept this visa. I don't think this is OCA problem because China has an agreement to let all the athletes who have certified eligibility to come to compete in China."

The Indian government has also lodged a strong protest with China over the issue, saying that New Delhi reserves the right to take "suitable measures" to safeguard its interests.

"As the host country, China welcomes athletes from all countries to the Games using legal identification. The Chinese government has never recognised so-called "Arunachal".

"The area of Zangnan is Chinese territory," said a Chinese foreign ministry spokesperson.

Taliban sends male team, but Afghan women arrive from elsewhere

AGENCIES @Hangzhou (China)

IN the first Asian Games since the Taliban regained control of Afghanistan, two teams of athletes are arriving in the Chinese city of Hangzhou, looking very different.

One, sent from Afghanistan where women are now banned by the Taliban from participating in sports, consists of about 130 all-male athletes, who will participate in 17 different sports, including volleyball, judo and wrestling. Another, competing under the black, red and green flag of the elected government the Taliban toppled in 2021, is drawn from the Afghan athletes around the world, and includes 17 women, as per Hafizullah Wali Rahimi, the president of Afghanistan's National Olympic Committee from before Taliban took over. The women were on their way, consisting of a volleyball team that have been training in Iran, cyclists from Italy, and a representative for athletics from Australia.

With the famed two-wheeler competition making its debut in the country, it was suppose to spark excitement. The fans took to social media to voice their displeasure. The MotoGP were forced to post an apology for the faux pas soon after. DENIM ON THE D-DAY

Designer Manoviraj Khosla's daughter, who got married recently, sported a blue-denim lehenga with embroidery, a creation by her dad

MONIKA MONALISA

IN picturesque Hampshire, fashion designer Manoviraj Khosla's daughter, Ahaana Khosla, an entrepreneur by profession, tied the knot with her childhood sweetheart, Shehan Minocher. Needless to say, like any other father, it was a day that Manoviraj had looked forward to. The bride wore a never-seen-before washed faded denim lehenga with hand embroidery on it, brightening it up with a pop of colour. The groom, too, complemented the bride with a denim bandhgala.

This bespoke wedding trousseau was created and designed by Manoviraj himself. "We just did this washed-denim look. They did a lot of embroidery on it, where the base was first done with machine embroidery, and then on top of that, we did hand embroidery with French knots and sequins, beads, and the whole paraphernalia. We then accessorised it further with butterflies and different sorts of flower motifs," says Manoviraj, speaking from the UK. He further adds, "The whole idea was to give it this sort of three-dimensional look, and it was just supposed to be something that's fun, colourful, young, energetic, and different."

Always known for his away-from-the-crowd thinking, the designer would not have let his daughter wear just another red lehenga. "Many people are going to wear the same red lehenga to every wedding. Each bride looks exactly the same as the other. My daughter was clear that she didn't want to look like a cookie-cutter image. Where is the individuality?" says Manoviraj. The designer reveals that one of the main reasons to pick denim was because the fabric has its own identity and is one of the 'trendiest' in the world today, with big labels worldwide working with denim.

The process of creating this piece took almost two months, according to the designer. "We decided which wash we wanted and then went with the light blue. I even considered fraying or shredding it, but at least I went with a light blue wash. For the blouse, we went with the embroidery of a butterfly in the front," he explains.

While the bride managed to pull-off the look, the family thought of it as a 'crazy idea' when he suggested it. "When Ahaana finally thought about it, she thought it was a cool idea. It would be something so different," says Manoviraj, who is now enjoying his upgrade to that of a father-in-law.

HAPPY, GAY AND SUPER FUNNY!

This queer comedian visits Bengaluru on tour with his new upcoming show, Average Adult

FEW people can claim to have done what standup comic, writer and podcast host Navin Noronha did. Born and raised in suburban Mumbai in a conservative Roman Catholic family, he came out as queer at an open mic in 2014 to a room full of strangers. Unlike most comics, Noronha encourages audience questions and responds to them during his performances. Noronha wants to mainstream queer people, dispel myths and stereotypes and engage in an honest dialogue with the public at large to raise awareness around the LGBTQIA+ community.

"Average Adult is a philosophical sequel to my first show, The Good Child. It's about growing up and talking about something that I haven't gotten a chance to talk about before.It's a mature show," begins Noronha.

Noronha's first-ever open mic was in July of 2014 prior to which he was a professional emcee right out of school. "Getting on stage was not the scary part, making people laugh was. I came out of the closet publicly at my first open mic event and since then I've never looked back. I found my voice and an assurance that there is a community out there that accepts me for who I am," avers Noronha.

While speaking about his journey of coming out, he says almost all of his friends have been supportive. "It's because they knew me for me and anything else apart from that is an addition to my identity that I proudly own. There were some bullies in my college, but you get them with logic. Everyone's got their own thing. I am not out to change people's beliefs. I am out to appeal to their saner side," he adds.

For Noronha, getting on stage and doing comedy, be it for five people or for 500 people, is a therapeutic experience. "I never wanted to be a comedian. I wanted to be famous and doing standup just seemed to suit me. I do not try to be different from anybody. There is only one me and nobody can do me," the comedian says.

"I have been doing this for a while now. So, eventually, I put all my material together and started doing a bunch of trial shows. After all the trial shows, I am finally doing this tour of Average Adult," Noronha says. "Bengaluru has always given me the best audience. I actually wanted to record my solo here. The city has a keen sense of comedy and people turn up for the comedy, not the comedian, which is refreshing," he concludes.

Tickets are priced at ₹299 for the show taking place on September 23, 9.30 pm at Comedy Garage, Whitefield

Margarine, Mastery, and Meticulousness The Story of Butter Ganapati

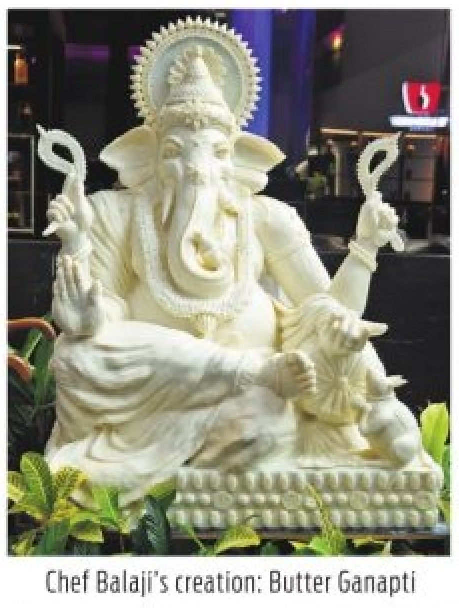
THE Radisson Blu Atria Bangalore, steeped in a venerable three-decade legacy of a brand that has harmoniously evolved alongside the burgeoning metropolis, stands as an epitome of pioneering innovation and unfettered creativity within the echelons of the hospitality realm. This bastion of hospitality continually unfurls a panoply of astonishing surprises, each ranging from the exuberantly ostentatious to the elegantly understated.

Amidst this opulent hospitality institution, during the jubilant festivities of Ganesh Chaturthi, the brand once again orchestrated an exquisite symphony, seamlessly melding tradition with the cosmopolitan allure of an international culinary indulgence, the delectable Margarine. The resultant fusion, a statue of Ganapati, has been nothing short of awe-inspiring, with a multitude of patrons who traverse the hallowed threshold of the Hotel's Tea & Wine Lounge invariably mistaking its opulent interior for a masterpiece wrought from the finest Carrara marble.

The man responsible for this impeccable culinary creation is none other than Pastry Chef Balaji Durairaj. Possessing an impressive dossier replete with 12 years of dedicated toil in the Pastry section, Chef Balaji Durairaj imparts insights into his gastronomic opus, the inspirations that fuelled his artistic endeavours, and his future culinary spectacles.

Can you tell us about how the concept of 'Butter Ganapati' originated?

The genesis of the 'Butter Ganapati' came about when our Food & Beverage Director, Kasi Viswanathan, approached me with the idea of creating a memorable attraction during the Ganesh Chaturthi festival. Given my prior experience in crafting artistic figures, I decided to embrace his vision, which ultimately yielded impressive results. The encouragement from our General Manager, Girish Ganeshan, further propelled this creation into fruition, all within a remarkably short span of four days.



Chef Balaji's creation: Butter Ganapti

Why did you opt for margarine?

The choice of margarine over butter was deliberate, primarily due to its extended shelf life owing to a higher content of additives. As our intention was to preserve the Ganapati creation for a month, margarine emerged as the most pragmatic choice. Moreover, I had previously worked with margarine to fashion various artistic creations. The core structure of the statue comprises a rod, enveloped in cloth, with approximately 120 kilograms of margarine meticulously applied. This allows the sculpture to withstand room temperature conditions for an extended period and even be repurposed. The overall height of my creation stands at four feet.

What has been the public response to your creation?

The response to our creation has been overwhelmingly positive. Both my colleagues within the hotel and the management have expressed profound appreciation for the dedication and artistry exhibited by our team. Equally heartening, our guests have been captivated by the meticulous attention to historical accuracy that we painstakingly incorporated into our work.

Given the sensitivity, how did you ensure that the statue aligns with all aspects of Ganesha?

Our approach involved meticulous research into the nuances of Ganesha's representation. We studied numerous statues, paying meticulous attention to details such as the position of the mouse, the deity's preferred sweets, his jewellery, and even the orientation of his trunk, adhering to the leftward direction as prescribed by Vastushastra. In essence, we left no stone unturned in ensuring that every facet of the statue remained faithful to the revered traditions, with the utmost consideration for the sentiments of all.

What are your upcoming plans?

Our next culinary venture will revolve around the creation of an elaborate portrayal of Santa Claus and his sleigh, timed to coincide with the Christmas season. As with 'Butter Ganesha,' we are committed to undertaking extensive research to capture every intricate detail that enjoys international recognition and acclaim.

Have you pursued any formal culinary training? Tell us of any recognition that has come your way.

I am entirely self-taught in pastry artistry. Over the years, I have devoted myself to mastering the craft of pastry making and crafting intricate sculptures. My father, who was a painter, instilled in me an innate artistic inclination. As for recognition, just this year, I earned a Gold medal during the South Indian Culinary Association (SICA) event for my creation of a three-tier wedding cake.

RECIPE FOR LIFE

I awoke with a heavy heart and with absolutely no plausible explanation as to why, especially since my life was a merry-carousal at the moment! Slowly it dawned on me that this is the month that I lost my mothers, one an in-law and the other, my biological one. They were strong, fierce and loyal women who wouldn't hesitate to lop off the head of anyone who spelt a threat to their families. They loved us unconditionally and they expressed it by re-creating, preparing and serving, with utmost generosity, the most delicious and exotic dishes from their undivided homeland. 'Barkat' was an oft-used word which loosely translated means 'the more you share the more you receive'. I was truly blessed to have both these mercurial and entrancing women in my multi-cultural and multi-faith life that was full of love and laughter. There is plenty of 'barkat' going around for sure!

Since I lost both my 'mother-mavericks' this month, so September is always an emotional charged period for me. They have left an indelible mark on my personality and when I entertain or just nurture my family I feel their presence. I am tigress with the family, and I can say with aplomb that I love my spouse to distraction…I know no other way. I am just doing what my moms' did. Ah yes! The husband is a lucky man!

So when the charming George Kuruvilla invited me for lunch at The Ritz Carlton, to meet with the very popular chef/author/historian Osama Jalali my interest was piqued. I was really excited as he was giving us an opportunity to savour his epicurean meal based on the 'Lost Recipes of India' and more so because he often cooked with his mom! Needless to say the four hour lunch was a gastronomical delight of shared stories, secret masalas, childhood reminiscing and much more. I'm sure both my moms must have been smiling down from 'jannat'.

This week passed by in a blur and I loved it! Why should I feel apologetic when 'auld' Bangalore shows their affection and solidarity? The Oberoi has always been like a second home to me as my family and close friends have always been a part of their quiet elegance. They recently threw a very 'niche-soiree' to introduce the new menu at their very swish Polo Club (read: just an excuse to meet with their friends and patrons). The exclusive club resounded with laughter, song (they had a great band playing) and tempered conversations, ably abetted by some excellent small-plates and stupendous cocktails. Now that's what we call a party.

Sometimes we can go weeks without talking and sometimes we can meet each other twice in one week! This happened with Tammy Ben-Haim, Consul-General of Israel to South India. The very chilled-out and gregarious Tammy threw a 'niche-soiree' with a couple of her expat and Indian friends at her residence. It was a blast. Then we met again at the 'niche-soiree' (yes! It is my fave word of the day) a private luncheon thrown by yours truly at Pangeo. My friends are as eclectic, unique and as 'chilled-out' as I am. The banter, the laughter, and the copious amount of food and drink imbibed will be written in stone.

Viva life...having the recipe of life isn't enough…you still have to cook!

UNRAVELING THE TAPESTRY OF DUALITY

DVANDVA:
Director: L Bharath
Cast: Tilak Shekar, Asiya Firdose, Shobhraj, Dinesh Mangalore, and Raja Balawadi

A SHARADHAA

DVANDVA, means duality; the film introduces us to a girl with a rare condition of hyperthymesia—an exceptional ability with a photographic memory, capable of remembering every detail of her surroundings and life events with remarkable precision. This condition unwittingly becomes a pawn in a political manoeuvre when adversaries discover this concealed truth and seek to take advantage.

Now, let's dive into the storyline, which unfolds from 6 am to 6 pm. It revolves around Aryan (Tilak Shekar), who is believed to be searching for a life partner and meets Sihi (Asiya Firdose). However, fate has other plans as Sihi, who registered himself on an entirely different website, crosses paths with Aryan. Seeking solace in life, Sihi finds comfort in Aryan, and what was initially thought to be a brief meeting extends to an entire day. Along this journey, we are introduced to a myriad of characters who enter and exit in regular intervals, and the reasons behind their intentions form the crux of this political drama.

The Chief Minister (Dinesh Mangalore) prefers his daughter (Anita Bhat) to be the party's heir over his son. Meanwhile, the Home Minister (Bala Rajawadi) harbours ambitions of unseating the Chief Minister, and he is supported by the CM's son. Sihi, closely guarded by her father (HMT Vijay), a long-time associate of the Chief Minister, eventually discovers that they are taking advantage of her hyperthymesia condition. But will this misfire on the Chief Minister, who is already a target? In the process, we learn about Aryan, a neurologist, who attempts to help Sihi recover from her condition. Amidst this game of pursuit, the story takes a dramatic twist, culminating in an engaging climax.

L Bharath has attempted to deliver a complicated plot in his debut, encompassing politics, romance, emotions and a bit of science. However, while the plot appears intelligent on paper, it doesn't quite translate effectively onto the screen. The director, despite putting in effort for the ideation, should have focused more on the execution, as there are noticeable editing issues, including extra sentences that seem to be intended for deletion but were forgotten.

On the other hand, the director cleverly incorporates a multitude of characters, and interestingly, everyone exhibits a dual personality, including the driver, heroine, inspector, forensic lab technician, science lover, and a host of politicians, their families, and aides. At times, their presence adds intrigue and unexpected twists, but on occasion, they disrupt the narrative and exhibit deficiencies in acting skills.

It's interesting to note that Tilak, despite being the protagonist, doesn't dominate the screen time. He appears for shorter durations than other actors but makes sure to deliver his best in every frame. Similarly, Anita Bhat's role, despite having minimal screen time, proves to be more significant than the rest.

Asiya Firdose, who has transitioned from serials to silver screen, delivers an invested performance, bringing her character to life effectively.

While the film offers diverse subplots, it falls slightly short of keeping the audience on the edge of their seats. Nonetheless, it is not a run-of-the-mill plot, and viewers can give it a try for its unique elements.

Olave Mandara 2, a journey of love and redemption

A SHARADHAA

THE plot of Jayathirtha's debut film, Olave Mandara (2011), drew inspiration from real-life events, delivering a simple yet captivating romantic drama. It follows the story of a wealthy industrialist who meets a charming Assamese girl in a dance competition set in Coimbatore. Their love, a stolen kiss, and guilt wove the fabric of a transformative journey culminating in a heartwarming reunion.

Now, almost 12 years later, debut director SR Patil presents a romantic drama with the same title, giving us an illusion that her film is a sequel to the Jayatheertha directorial, however, it is not. This film also explores a love story set against the backdrop of both a city and a village. It revolves around a passionate kiss, which was also the soul of Jayatheertha's film. However, in this rendition, SR Patil introduces a surprising twist. The cast primarily comprises newcomers, and music takes a prominent role, with a soul-stirring background score and memorable songs by Kiran Thotambyle.

The story follows Druti (Anupa Sathish), who invites her friends to her wedding and shares the tale of how love unfolded in her life and left a profound impact. While working in a Bengaluru firm, she falls deeply in love with Arya but hesitates to express her feelings. Her initial attempts to reach out to Arya (Sanath) go unanswered. Nevertheless, when an opportunity arises, Druti gathers the courage to convey her emotions to Arya, only to face rejection. This rejection prompts Arya to reflect on his past. Arya, initially a carefree villager who detested city life, had always teased his friends about falling in love. Yet, he unexpectedly falls in love when he encounters Bhoomi (Prajna Bhat). Fortunately, Bhoomi reciprocates his feelings and the two share intimate moments of romance. Bhoomi, eager to steal a kiss from Arya, encounters his insistence on reserving such intimacy for marriage. Unfortunately, their tender romance is cut short when Arya is forced to relocate to the city against his wishes.

The romance delves into the reasons behind Arya's decision to leave the village and eventually marry Druti instead of Bhoomi. Druti, who later adopts the name Bhoomi, provides answers to these questions and also experiences the love of adoptive parents, as she was an orphan, a conclusion, which could have been impactful, but shot abruptly.

Olave Mandara 2 unfolds as a straightforward, enchanting romantic drama that skillfully narrates a story of love, rejection, and surprising twists, all within the enchanting embrace of melodious music. The director, with his craftsmanship, has intelligently extracted the core theme of a kiss from Olave Mandara and individually crafted his own tale infused with imagination. This storyline possesses a touch of authenticity, as it resonates with common experiences young hearts have often encountered.

As the director has predominantly cast newcomers, their performances exude a natural charm. The dialogues, while serviceable, could have benefited from greater brevity. The supporting cast, portraying the roles of friends, adds humour at well-timed intervals and adds zest to the narrative. Regrettably, even though Bhavya plays a role, her on-screen presence does not receive the prominence it deserves, and the same can be said for the other senior characters, including Dingri Nagaraj. While Olave Mandara 2 retains a subtle essence of its predecessor, bearing the same title, it distinguishes itself as an entirely separate cinematic entity.

OLAVE MANDARA 2
Director: S R Patil
Cast: Sanath, Prajna Bhatt, and Anupa Sathish

A possible franchise-ender with no redeeming qualities

PRASHANTH VALLAVAN

DVANDVA:
Director: Scott Waugh
Cast: Sylvester Stallone, Jason Statham, Megan Fox, Dolph Lundgren, 50 Cent

GERMAN philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche famously said, "When you stare into the abyss, the abyss stares back at you." This means that a dark, vacant, void has more utility than Expend4bles, which is also vacant and devoid of any substance. If you think that's harsh you need to see how the film treats everything good about the franchise. The Expendables is a self-aware action franchise that derives its strength from being unapologetic about its over-the-top action, cheesy dialogues, and an overstuffed ensemble of action stars. The fourth installment, however, is like a toddler trying to imitate an elder's dance moves, and it is so bad that we can't even give it the customary 'oh you're so cute' smile.

After a key member of the group is killed, and with Jason Statham's Lee Christmas kicked off the team, The Expendables have to stop the mysterious Ocelot from starting World War III by exploding nuclear weapons next to the Russian border. Every single line of the premise... from seeking revenge for a team member, to conflict with Russia, to nuclear warheads, and potential World War, the story feels like something regurgitated by a rudimentary version of an AI after it was given every single Hollywood action film script to read. While we don't walk into an Expendables film expecting nuanced takes on war and violence, the film still stumbles to capture the major strength of the franchise, the action sequences. With logic and stakes, readily out the door, as early as possible, what disappoints us the most is how uninventive the action sequences are.

A handful of kills come off as exciting but only if you're into the kind of action with plentiful gore and an opulence of CGI blood. The only brutal kill that carries any emotional weight in the Expend4bles is when the credits start rolling and you feel like the film might have killed the franchise. Another curious thing about the film is the conspicuous lack of effort in the visuals. Almost every single exterior scene seems to have been shot on a sound stage. Everything that fills the screen, that is not an actor or a gun, seems like it was made with outdated VFX. A clear lack of budget is evident. While some might argue that budgetary restraints cannot be held against the film, it is hard to give Expend4bles a pass considering how the story is about a group of elite mercenaries who try to stop World War III. It is possible to make quality action films with a low budget and it is understandable to use artificial digital backgrounds. However, you need to work these constraints into the story and ground it accordingly, which this film clearly fails to do. Some could argue that while the runtime is thankfully short, the fact that the story feels like it was written in the same amount of time was its biggest drawback.

Another staple of the Expendables franchise is the cheesy one-liners and the lighthearted dialogues. With no wit to back up the writing, The Expend4bles fails to capture the tongue-in-cheek humour of its predecessors and the dialogues are stale as well. With a long list of drawbacks from writing, acting, and action choreography to pull it down from the get-go, the film never fully recovers. However, there are a few redeeming factors. You could sense a healthy amount of self-awareness, and while they might not have met the expectations, they at least had the foresight to shorten the runtime and not let the story affect the franchise in any meaningful way. However, it is certainly difficult for the franchise to survive post this film.
